MORLEY DINED BY PRESIDENT

Hears Guests Discuss the Capital and Labor Problem.

THIS HIS REQUEST

Wished to Take Back to England Impressions of Prominent Americans.

PERSONS WHO WERE PRESENT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.

President Roosevelt brought together tonight at a dinner at the White house, given in honor of the Rt. Hon. John Morley of England, important representatives of capital and labor and official and unofficial students of this great problem. Mr. Morley as a guest of the president was asked by him what class of men he would like to meet at this dinner and he quickly replied that he would like this opportunity to meet students of the labor problem and representative capitalists and labor leaders.

The dinner was given in the state dining room and besides Mr. Morley, who sat at the right of the president, these guests were present: The secretary of the navy, Mr. Morton; the Hon. Carroll D. Wright, the Hon. James R. Garfield, the Hon. F. P. Sargent, the Rev. Dr. William S. Rainsford, the Rev. A. F. Doyle, J. J. Hanrahan, P. H. Morrissey, Warren S. Stone, E. E. Clark, J. B. Reynolds, H. R. Fuller and J. B. Bishop.

Secretary Morton Present.

Secretary Morton attended as a representative of capital. E. E. Clark is an important railroad labor leader, and was appointed on the coal strike commission by the president. It was purely a gathering for the purpose of an open discussion of these important questions, and was given primarily in order that Mr. Morley might take back to England with him impressions of prominent Americans on this question.

Organized labor was more largely represented in the president's invitations than capital. Frank P. Sargent, the commissioner general of immigration, was formerly an important labor leader and took part in the discussion of the effect of the importation of foreign labor on American workingmen and their wages. Mr. Hanrahan is president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; Mr. Morrisey is an important officer of the organization of Railway Trainmen, while Mr. Clarke is the head of the Order of Railway Conductors. Mr. Fuller is the legislative representative of many of the railroad labor organizations.

Member of the Paulists.

The Rev. A. H. Doyle of New York is an important member of the Order of Paulist Fathers, and James Reynolds is head worker in the university settlement of New York, a student of the tenement house problem and a member of the New York state tenement house commission.

Carroll D. Wright is United States labor commissioner and James R. Garfield chief of the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce and labor. Mr. Bishop is deputy surveyor of the port of New York, a personal friend of the president and an over-night guest at the White House.

The dinner discussion was entirely informal, but its possibilities in the line of possible sociological progress cannot be overestimated in view of the character of the guests and their official positions in the organizations which they represent. Mr. Morley expressed himself as highly pleased at the opportunity to meet the labor leaders of the United States, and they in turn expressed gratitude at being able to exchange views with so eminent an English statesman and one so closely identified with and interested in the labor problem.

The great anthracite coal strike of 1902 and President Roosevelt's participation in its settlement by the appointment of a federal commission was among the topics discussed, as well as the future possibilities of intervention on the part of federal officials in great contests between capital and labor.

ADAM'S ELECTION CALLS DEPARTED MINERS BACK

Colorado's New Governor May Have His Hand Full in Keeping Campaign Promise.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DENVER, COL., Nov. 11.—The election of the Democratic candidate, Alva A. Adams, to the governorship of this state, has been followed by an announcement on the part of the Western Federation of Miners that it is safe for the miners who were deported from the Cripple Creek district to return there at once. It is also announced that Adjutant General Sherman Bell, who deported the miners, intends to go to Mexico to become a mine superintendent.

As a climax to the situation Gov.-elect Adams repeats his campaign pledge, which was this: "Within 90 days after my inauguration the men who blew up the Independence depot, killing 13, will be in jail."

Operator Dies at His Desk.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—John Hass, agent and operator of the Big Four at Gretna, died with his hand on the telegraph key yesterday. The train dispatchers failed to raise him with repeated calls from this city and investigation showed he had been stricken with apoplexy with his work before him.

UTILIZE TRAIN TO STEAL MAIL

SNATCH SACKS FROM CRANES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 11.—A bold robbery of United States mail occurred on the Pittsburgh and Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad east of Washington at Anderson and Hackett stations, last night. Mail pouches had been placed on the cranes at these stations for train No. 104, the night express into Pittsburgh, which goes through here at 6:36. It was an hour and 25 minutes late. In the meantime freight train No. 85, with Conductor Simon W. Hamilton, was running west-bound several hours late.

While it was passing the stations of Anderson and Hackett three unknown men boarded the train, snatched the mail pouches from the cranes and escaped. Superintendent Bruce W. Duer of Pittsburgh was notified. He sent word to the operator at local station who notified Chief of Police Alexander Rankin and Officers James Hammond and Stephen White, who met the train.

One suspect, Leslie Moore of Warren, Pa., who said he had been working in Pittsburgh and was on his way to St. Louis, was placed in the county jail. He denied all knowledge of the robbery. He will be held.

Secret service officers and officers of the railroad company are working on the case. The value of the mail bags is not exactly known, but it is thought they contained much money being sent by the miners to their homes in foreign countries, the robbery following a regular pay day.

WILL CHARGE COMPANY WITH AIDING REBELS

Venezuela Preparing to Sue Big Asphalt Concern—Matos' Mission Cited.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Unofficial reports received here indicate that the Venezuelan government will soon bring suit against the New York & Bermudez Asphalt Company. The charge will be that this company assisted Gen. Matos in his last revolution against President Castro. Reports that a suit for $10,000,000 on this account would be instituted have long been coming from South America.

In connection with the suit it is rumored the Venezuelan government expects to prove Gen. Matos came to the United States before the revolution and conferred at their country homes with men interested in the New York & Bermudez Company and that he later received arms and munitions of war from them.

No action has yet been taken by the state department in regard to the seizure by a receiver of the properties of the asphalt company. This seizure is considered an aggression of justice by this government, but until a decision is rendered by the supreme court of Venezuela no representations will be made. If dilatory tactics are employed to delay decision by this court, the United States will remonstrate with great vigor.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Claiming the Titian glory of her hair was ruined forever by dyes, Mrs. Charlotta Holliday has brought suit against Mrs. Lena A. Verclas, a hair dresser, for $10,000 damages.

Mrs. Holliday alleges that at that time her locks were luxuriant and long, but that soon after the treatment her tresses became streaky in color and at last began to fall out, so that she was obliged to wear a wig.

MADE EFFORT TO IMPALE TRAIN

Cape May Mail Express Dashes Through Obstacle With Serious Injury.

TRAIN CREW CHASED WRECKER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 11.

A daring attempt was made tonight to wreck the Cape May mail express on the West Jersey & Seashore railroad at a point between Woodbury and the Woodbury Heights stations.

The train, which was under a headway of more than 60 miles an hour, crashed through the obstacle with no other damage than the smashing of the pilot of the engine, and a bad fright for the passengers.

When the train was brought to a halt, a man who had been standing near the tracks, was seen to start toward the open country. The train crew ran after him, but were soon outdistanced.

A heavy tie had been driven into the ground and pointed slantwise in the direction from which the northbound train would come. Timbers were placed on each side of the tie to hold it in position, and there was a pile of planks back of this rude structure, as if to resist a shock.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

MR. ROOSEVELT TO BE HARVARD'S PRESIDENT

Has Agreed to Accept That Position After the Expiration of His Office.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 11.—That President Roosevelt has agreed to become president of Harvard at the expiration of his term, March 4, 1908, is positively asserted by a gentleman who returned today from New York. He is a man of thorough reliability.

"The information came to me in a confidential way," he said, "and therefore my name must not be used in connection with the item. It may, however, be regarded as semi-official.

"I was told the presidency was offered Mr. Roosevelt about two weeks prior to election, and that he agreed to accept after he ceased to be president of the United States."

MAY SELECT DEWEY.

Secretary of Navy Will Probably Offer Admiral Seat on North Sea Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Admiral Dewey will probably be a member of the North sea commission. The secretary of the navy intends to offer the duty to Admiral Dewey, if the formal request comes without specifying any one officer. The duty would be agreeable to the admiral.

Word from St. Petersburg announces Baron Taube, who is connected with the foreign office, has been designated as Russian judicial adviser to the international commission, which is to inquire into the North sea incident.

NO LONGER DELIGHTED.

President Now Says "Very Happy, Very Happy"—Congressmen Extend Congratulations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—According to chroniclers of the White House, President Roosevelt has dropped his somewhat famous "delighted" and now says "very happy, very happy," as its substitute. He used "very happy, very happy" today for the first time when replying to the felicitations of Congressmen Babcock, Hemenway and Hull.

Congressman Dayton, fresh from his fight in West Virginia, also called and exchanged congratulations with the president.

HARVARD MAN BECOMES AN ORDINARY BURGLAR

ST. LOUIS, MO., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Edward Raymond, a former Harvard student, was arrested this morning after a desperate struggle with the police. With an accomplice he held up a saloon and at the point of revolvers robbed the patrons of the place. He is but 20 years old and the son of wealthy parents.

POSSE SCOURS WOODS IN VAIN

BLOODHOUNDS FAIL IN TRAIL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Nov. 11.—More than 400 citizens of Fayette county have spent the day in the mountains in the vicinity of Montgomery searching for Ed Jackson. Earnest and Robert Jackson, brothers of the murderer of Sheriff Daniels and John Rolf, were arrested today and taken to Charleston, W. Va., where they were placed in jail.

A reward of $2,000 has been offered for Ed Jackson, dead or alive. The belief is that he will never surrender, as he is almost certain of death either by lynching or by being hung after trial. Deputy sheriffs are being sworn in all over Fayette county to assist in capturing Jackson and protecting him when he is captured. Meanwhile it is claimed the friends of the Jackson family are preparing for a rescue should the murderer be taken, and if a lynching is attempted it will probably end in a riot.

The cliffs and caves in the vicinity of Montgomery are being thoroughly searched. Bloodhounds were taken to Montgomery from Dayton, O., but their trailing brought no results, as hundreds of people have marred the trail of the fugitive. Owing to the innumerable rock cliffs in the vicinity of Montgomery Jackson could hide within half a mile of the town almost in security if he was sure of a food supply. Marshal Ash is still leading the searching party.

The body of Sheriff Daniels will be buried tomorrow.

NEXT CANDIDATE SHOULD COME FROM THE SOUTH

Congressman Hay Says Reorganization of Democratic Party Is Not Needed.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Congressman James Hay of Virginia, one of the Democratic leaders of the house, is full of hope now that he has assured himself that the tidal wave of Tuesday did not sweep Virginia before it, as was feared for a time. He thinks the next presidential candidate should come from the south. Said he:

"The talk of a new party or reorganization along radical lines should not be listened to by any true Democrat. A new party certainly could do no better than the old one, and there is no need of radical reorganization. The Democrats should simply get together and stand for the principles of true Democracy. Let the Democrats take cheer. If they get together and present a solid front to the opposition, a leader will be found without any trouble.

"One result of this election will be that the south will no longer refrain from asking representation upon the national ticket. If two southern men had been nominated at St. Louis the result could not have been worse. In fact, I believe that Missouri and Maryland would have been found in the Democratic column instead of boosting the Republican majority. I am in favor of a southern man for president in 1908, and I believe that every southern state will demand this recognition."

FIGHT WITH GYPSIES.

Nomads Fatally Wound Two of a Band of Kentucky Mountaineers in Battle.

SOMERSET, KY., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—In a pitched battle between citizens and a band of horse trading gypsies near Alpine, this county, last night, news of which reached here today, two citizens were fatally wounded and others seriously injured. Several of the gypsies fell victims to the skillful aim of the Kentucky mountaineers, despite the fact that they were protected by a barricade made of their wagons.

The citizens who fell in the battle are John McKee, Anderson Freeman and D. Haines. One gypsy, at least, is known to have been desperately wounded, and several others were badly hurt.

MERIT TO RULE WITH PRESIDENT

Officeholders With Mere Political Backing to Not Be Renamed.

MUST MAKE RECORDS

Washington Postmaster to Lose Place—Death Prevented Van Cott's Removal.

CABINET OFFICER SO STATES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.

Among the many intentions now credited to President Roosevelt none have better authority than the report of his intention to shake up federal office holders generally. Rumor first had it that a rule of no third term would henceforth govern federal appointments.

The statement was today made by a member of the cabinet that no such rule was under consideration, so far as he knew, nor did there appear to be an intention of formulating what might be called a policy as to appointments. But this cabinet officer stated that men now holding office as a reward for political service rendered in the McKinley regime, and for no other reason, would not be reappointed. There must be a showing of excellent administration, he explained. It must be clear that the office holder does not regard his place as an adjunct to his politics, a means of support that he may be able to engage in political work while clerks and subordinates perform the duties required by the government.

Present events furnish two illustrations of what is intended. John A. Merritt, postmaster of Washington, is to go. He is one of Senator Platt's men. His term expired some time since. Senator Platt requested his reappointment, urged it, begged it. The most the president at last consented was permission for Merritt to remain in office until after the election. Cornelius Van Cott, postmaster of New York city, recently died. Had he lived he would have been replaced by another man on the expiration of his term. Although he had the strongest political backing, investigation had shown his familiarity with the practical workings of New York postoffice to be slight. Its methods have become antiquated. The postoffice investigation showed Mr. Merritt to be careless of supervision here.

It must not be expected that the president intends to take appointments out of the hands of senators and representatives. They will be made on recommendation much as usual. Where there is a dispute that brings the case to the White House, there will be an investigation and an application of other than political rules to the appointment. The average appointment will only be filled on congressional recommendation, if the appointee has the indorsement of his department. This has been very perfunctory heretofore. The head of departments recommended as requested or as political expediency dictated. This is ended. The record of service will amount to something. L. W. STRAYER.

PEOPLE WANT LARGER NAVY.

Congressman Dayton Will Work for It. President's Desire Indorsed on Last Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—"Whatever influence I may have will be thrown in favor of a large naval appropriation at the coming session of congress," said Representative A. G. Dayton of West Virginia, ranking member of the house committee on naval affairs, this evening.

"We will continue the additions to the American navy until we have a sea fighting equipment equal to the best. President Roosevelt's views on this question are well known and the enthusiastic indorsement given him on Tuesday by the American people shows beyond a shadow of a doubt that they approve."

SAYERS ADMITS IDA "HAD" HIM

Refused to Marry Miss Hayes When She Made the Request.

HE PAID HER BILLS

Aged Waynesburg Man Also Tells of the Trips They Took Together.

PROVES A DRAMATIC WITNESS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.

Henry Clay Sayers, the defendant in the suit for $25,000 damages for alleged breach of promise, brought by Miss Idalian Cameron Hayes, formerly of Pittsburgh, told his story today. Miss Hayes told her's yesterday. He said the girl "had" him when asked if he was infatuated with her, but declared he refused to marry her when she asked him to do so. Sayers is 64 years old and Miss Hayes admits she is 28.

"Everybody up in Waynesburg knows me," he said. "Most everybody there calls me 'Hen.'"

Miss Lizzie Rodney, who lives at Connellsville, Pa., and was associated with Miss Hayes in "demonstrating tea" at the Waynesburg fair in September, 1897, and Mrs. Alexander, sister of Miss Hayes, went on the stand and corroborated parts of the story of the plaintiff.

"That's our case," said the attorney for Miss Hayes.

"I move the complaint be dismissed on the ground no cause of action has been made," said Sayers' lawyer.

Justice Scott said, laconically, "Motion denied."

Then Henry Clay Sayers was called to the stand. He held his ear trumpet hand up to his head while he testified in an easy, off-hand way.

Sayers Gives His Testimony.

"I am 64 years old and have lived all my life in Waynesburg, Pa., where I was born," he said. "I have been married 37 years and have a wife, two sons and a daughter, all living with me in Waynesburg."

He said he first met her at the Greene county fair. She gave him a slip of ten and later got money from him to pay her fare to Pittsburgh. He met her in Pittsburgh later. When he went to her home to take her to the theater, he heard she and her mother quarrelling about him. She said: "I don't care if he is a married man. I like him. He is a nice old man and a Grand Army man."

She told him she was not going to stay at home any longer. Afterward she wrote him for $10 and he sent it. He saw her at a boarding house in Allegheny. She wept on his shoulder and said: "You're a Grand Army man. I like Grand Army men, and my father was a Grand Army man. Let's travel around together. You have some spare money and won't miss it." "We did so," he said, "staying at the same hotels, but registering under our own names."

Mr. Sayers told of a visit to Washington with Miss Hayes and later to Toronto and Niagara Falls in 1899, when it was arranged that she should go to a business school to learn shorthand and typewriting.

He Paid Her Bills.

"I paid her bills," he testified, "part in cash and part in draft."

"Did you ever tell any member of your family about going around with this girl?" asked Judge Scott.

"I only told my brother."

"You didn't tell your wife, did you?"

"Oh, no," said the witness, and a titter went around the court room.

"As a matter of fact, you were infatuated with the girl, were you not?" said the attorney.

"Yes; I was. I lost my head about her and I did not know what I was doing. She had me."

There was another laugh in which Miss Hayes joined.

"She then persuaded me to take her to Kansas," said he. "I agreed, but before we left she said: 'I tell you, when we get out there, let's go further. Cut off your whiskers and we'll go to Colorado and get married.' I put my foot down right there and said, 'No, miss, I'm a married man. We'll do nothing of the sort.' She made an awful scene; waved her umbrella and cried. I cut away from her then. I had my eyes opened."

Later they met on a street in Pittsburgh and were reconciled.

Mr. Sayers told of bringing the plaintiff to New York from Pittsburgh to place her in a dramatic school.

Dropped a Tear or Two.

"We stopped," he said, "at the Broadway Central hotel, where we had separate rooms. I paid her at the time $225. I only remained here a short time before returning to Pittsburgh. She accompanied me to the Grand Central station, where she kissed me goodby, and dropped a tear or two. It was a sad parting. I received a letter from her, dated New York, the latter part of May, in this she asked me to send her some money to procure a ticket for her return to Pittsburgh. She told me that she had been very ill in Brooklyn, and owed a doctor's bill of $25, which I paid at her request."

"Did you give her these various sums of money willingly?" asked her counsel.

"Yes. She never had any hesitancy in asking for money and I always gave it to her."

From a diary which he kept during the first five months during the year 1901, the defendant read, showing that he had paid Miss Hayes altogether $70.

On June 9, he said, he went to her boarding place in Brooklyn and gave her $5 to pay her board. He continued: "As I took out my wallet I said 'Ida, I have your note here. It was her note for $225, which money I loaned her when she came here to go to school. She took the note and I've never seen her or the note since. Miss Rodney soon came in and handed me a letter and a paper.

Note Promised Him Trouble.

"I thought they were for Ida and told Miss Rodney she had left. Miss Rodney came back and said, 'No, they are for you.' I looked at the paper and was stunned, dumfounded. I said to Lottie, 'Lottie, what does this mean?' I never saw Ida. The letter was from her and accused me of rascality, of luring her from her home and that she was going to punish me for it. I was all broken up and got out of the city."

Mr. Albright cross-questioned the witness.

"Your affection for her grew, I suppose?" he asked.

"Well, I should say so. She 'kinder' got affectionate to me and I 'kinder' got affectionate with her. As I said, I lost my head."

Referring to the question of the letters which passed between them he said: "She fired letters at me and I had to fire them back at her in order to keep the peace."

Mr. Albright read extracts from a letter in which mention was made of a diamond and opal ring with the initials in it. Mr. Sayers said she had asked him to write the letter so she could show it to her friend. He was asked about the endearing terms he used in various letters to her, his many endearing adjectives, his statements that the day would soon come when they could be together forever and be made one, be in their own home and that death alone could separate them.

Did It at Her Dictation.

"I did it at her dictation, to make her feel good," said Mr. Sayers, shifting uneasily in his chair. She has prompted me in the spirit of everything I have done."

"You have never been in an insane asylum?"

"No; but I've been near it of late."

Referring to the various leave takings between the couple, Mr. Albright asked Mr. Sayers if they kissed.

"Well, I should say so," answered the witness, "more than a hundred times."

"Why did you kiss her?"

"Because she wanted to kiss me. She liked it."

"Is that the only reason?"

"Well, it is human nature," snapped the witness, and continued, "did you never kiss a girl?"

Judge Scott had to rap for order to stop the laughter that this answer elicited.

Mr. Sayers also said he loved her, showed his affection for her and assisted her, in order to "pull her up and put her in good society, to make a lady of her."

"Yet, you spurned her when she asked you to marry her?"

"Yes, sir. I got real mad and used cuss words."

"What was your practice when you met Miss Hayes? Did she put her arms around you or did you put your arms around her?"

"She generally threw her arms around me."

That ended the cross-examination. An adjournment was then taken until Monday.

RELATIVES COME TO RESCUE OF ACTRESS

Say Mrs. Frank Gardner, Arrested Here, Is Wife of Philadelphia Business Man.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—The arrest of a Philadelphia actress at Pittsburgh Monday, on suspicion of having knowledge of a theft of money and valuables, has revealed a story showing that her desire to win fame on the stage caused her to separate from her husband, who, a member of the family said today, was a well-to-do business man of this city.

The young woman, who was arrested under the name of Mrs. Frank Gardner, is the daughter of Mrs. James Blundin, 5420 Spruce street, this city. Frank Gardner was arrested Monday, charged with stealing money and jewels from Miss E. Young of Pittsburgh. On account of his association with her, the young woman was arrested on suspicion.

A member of the family said today the girl was not, to his knowledge, married to Gardner. Relatives left Philadelphia today to help the young woman.

Said the relative: "She was married in this city to a business man, but her desire for the stage broke up the home."

PARKER IS SUSPECTED.

Believed to Have Been Implicated in Numerous Bold Robberies Committed in This Vicinity.

Earle Parker, aged 21, of 115 Corey street, was arrested last night by Special Officers Merit and McAfee. It is thought he is implicated in the alleged depredations of Frank Gardner and William Hunter, who were arrested Wednesday night. Gardner and Hunter have been identified as the men who took the diamond earring from May Howard, 803 Robinson street, Allegheny, several weeks ago. Gardner threw the woman on the floor and took the jewel from her ear. Both men escaped.

It is claimed Gardner and Hunter have been identified with seven robberies in Avalon, Crafton and this city. The detectives are of the opinion that more serious charges will be traced to them within a few days. Joseph Gardner, a brother of Frank, is also under arrest.

JAPANESE CHARY OF AMMUNITION

If Is Believed This Economy Presages Their Advance Very Soon.

PICKETS BANTER EACH OTHER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Nov. 10, VIA TIENTSIN, Nov. 11.—An artillery fire from both sides is continued at intervals. It is heavier on the Russian left wing, where all day November 9 and also during the night the Russians shelled the Japanese positions with their heavy guns. They threw 60 large melinite shells into the Japanese camp opposite Manalon hill.

The Japanese, who during the previous cannonading seemed to have successfully used a searchlight directed against the Russian positions for the purpose of covering their operations at night in the extension of their field works in the region of the railway, did not reply last night when the Russians attacked them further to the east.

The Japanese are notably economical in the use of ammunition as though anticipating an early battle, when great quantities will become necessary.

The Japanese have placed guns of large caliber in the vicinity of the Shakhe railway station, bringing Schia-Tung, the next station to the north, within the range of their fire.

Regimental bands are playing from camp to camp along the Russian line, and the army, which is now in better spirits, appears to be much more formidable and homogeneous. The soldiers are active in collecting and storing all the crops left by the Chinese in the fields, which they are conserving for use both as food and fuel. The demolition of Chinese houses appears to continue only along the firing line, where their destruction is rendered necessary for strategical purposes.

Owing to the mildness of the weather and the prevalence of sunshine, the soldiers are bathing in the open.

The Russians are hoisting manikins for the purpose of drawing the Japanese fire, and they also make a practice of bantering the Japanese in other ways.

Reports of the grave condition of the besieged at Port Arthur have reached Mukden, and as a consequence the Russians will not be surprised to learn of the capitulation of the fortress.

The course taken by the government of Great Britain in the North sea incident is now generally known here, and appears to be regarded as highly magnanimous.

The prevailing conviction is that the reinforcements received by the Japanese have been much larger than reported, and consequently it is expected they will attack.

Three imperial Red Cross trains attached to the Manchurian forces remain constantly in the rear of the army, on the Fushun railway and on the main railway.

The Russian scouts are very daring in secretly reconnoitering the whole of the Japanese lines, some even creeping up to the Japanese trenches, lying concealed there all day, and returning at night. The Japanese have constructed in many places double and even triple and quadruple lines of trenches, wire entanglements, mines and pits.

A Cossack patrol November 10 penetrated as far as Sandiapu, where it inflicted a blow against a large force of Japanese, then returned rapidly to the Russian main line without loss. A patrol also got in the rear of two Japanese companies moving to attack a Russian position. The Cossacks defeated the Japanese, and returned safely to the Russian lines.

The Russians gained a great advantage when, toward the end of the battle on the Shakhe river they recaptured Lone Tree hill, which has since been renamed Poutiloff hill in honor of the colonel who led the last successful attack. This hill commands a large part of the plain over which the Japanese must advance.

CITIZENS WILL DECIDE.

County Commissioners to Call a Meeting to Settle Question of Court House Addition or New Building.

The county commissioners are agreed that they will not arbitrarily settle the question of whether the additional room needed for county purposes be secured by adding two extra stories to the present court house, or by erecting a new building across Diamond street, but will provide for a meeting of representative citizens to settle the matter to the satisfaction of the taxpayers. The meeting may be held next week.

County Commissioner Mercer says if a new building is erected, it will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, with the additional ground needed, and it will not be as satisfactory to the judges, because the court rooms cannot be removed above the noise of the streets, which has been a nuisance in the present court since the building was erected. He went into a long detailed discussion of the cost of extra ground, and said he was not in favor of condemning the Maloney, Marshall and Third United Presbyterian church property because it entailed long delays and was a costly proceeding and unsatisfactory. He preferred to buy it outright and save time and litigation to the county.

Hawes of Braddock, general secretary of the Young People's Christian Union of the United States, made an interesting address and a conference closed the rally.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—President Roosevelt will recommend to congress that authority be given the Philippine commission to revise the tariff now in force in those islands. This decision was reached at the cabinet meeting today. The revision is planned with a view more to the development of business of the Islands than from a revenue standpoint.

Secretary Taft will recommend a reduction on goods entering the United States from the present rate, which is 75 per cent of the Dingley tariff, to 25 per cent, the reduction to apply to sugar and tobacco, while all other Philippine products are to be placed on our free list.

WANTS BLUFF OPENED FROM GIST TO SENECA

Oakland Board of Trade Considers the Proposition—May Result in a Legal Fight.

A movement was started last night for the opening of Bluff street, from Gist to Seneca streets, at a meeting of the Oakland board of trade.

M. J. Ehrenfeld brought the matter before the board and it was referred to the committee on municipal affairs to investigate the right and title of the Booth & Flinn Company, the Star Tile works and the Dixon brickyard to occupy the street. He said they had squatted on the street for years and if some action was not taken soon they would acquire the property by right of occupation. He cited the case of Joseph Padden, who was killed by falling over the bluff near the point in question and said the accident would not have occurred had the street been opened as plotted on the city maps. He claimed the boy's father was contemplating bringing an action for damages against the city.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, C. H. Chance; vice presidents, W. J. Moore and W. P. Getty; treasurer, John Dimling; secretary, D. J. Kelly.

Final arrangements for the annual banquet at the Hotel Buckingham were made. The banquet will be held on Thursday, November 17, and Dr. W. J. Holland will act as toastmaster. Arthur Hamerschlag, director of the Carnegie Polytechnical school, Hon. H. K. Porter, George H. Anderson, executive director of the chamber of commerce; James J. Booth, John Dimling, T. S. Brown, Dr. R. H. Holbrook and W. G. Negley will respond to toasts.

PRESBYTERY TO MEET.

Two of the Largest Congregations of the City Will Put in Calls for New Pastors.

The Pittsburgh presbytery will meet Tuesday in the Third Presbyterian church. The feature of the meeting will be that two of the largest and wealthiest churches which have been vacant a long time will put in their calls for ministers, both of whom have decided to accept.

The Rev. Daniel Russell, who comes to the Bellefield church from the Harlem church of New York, is the third pastor of that church to be called to this section in succession. The Rev. Dr. James D. Ramsey came from that church to Beaver, and his successor, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, came to the First church of this city.

The Rev. Dr. James Kinsey Smith, who comes to the Shadyside Presbyterian church, is now pastor of the Fourth Avenue church of Louisville. Each new minister leaves a congregation of about 600 members, but comes to a much larger salary than he now receives.

MARYLAND DELEGATION LIKELY TO BE DIVIDED

About 200 Plurality for Parker Indicated. May Be Changed by Official Count.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—Returns from the city of Baltimore and the state of Maryland at a late hour tonight seem to split the Maryland delegation in the electoral college squarely in half. The only thing positively certain is that Charles J. Bonaparte, a Republican, and ex-Gov. Frank Brown, a Democrat, have been elected. The probabilities now are that three other Republicans and three other Democratic electors have been named.

The indications point to the Democrats having the largest popular vote, and that Parker has about 200 plurality, although it will possibly take the official count by the board of supervisors of elections to determine the matter definitely. Some of the electors may also be changed.

BUCKET SHOP FAILS.

Federal Company, With Fifty Branch Offices, Assigns After Losing Over Million.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The pronounced rise in the stock market was responsible today for the suspension of the Federal Stock and Grain Company. The company had four offices in Boston and 50 or more in other cities. Treasurer D. E. Murray states that the concern lost $1,000,000 in the last six months, and adds that the claims against it do not exceed $150,000.

All branches were closed shortly after the announcement of the suspension, and in several places attachments have been filed against funds standing in the banks to the credit of the concern. The company is said to have cleared $2,000,000 last year.

The Pittsburgh office of this concern is in the Fitzsimons building. It is operated as a branch of the Boston company. Manager William S. Blair of the local office could not be found last night. Calls on his residence telephone were unanswered and clerks were working at the office after regular closing hours.

ANOTHER WOMAN ON GRAFT LIST

Constable Joyce Serves Warrant on Charges Against Clara Livingston.

WORK IS GROWING EASIER

Clara Livingston of East Robinson street, Allegheny, was arrested yesterday in connection with the Allegheny graft investigation and committed to jail. She is one of the women summoned before Attorneys John C. Haymaker and John Marron, who are aiding the district attorney in the investigation.

The Livingston woman was charged before Alderman S. J. Toole with keeping a disorderly house, the information being made by County Detective Robert G. Robinson. She was arrested at her house by Constable Thomas A. Joyce.

When the constable went to the door one of the girls in the house told him the Livingston woman was not at home, so Joyce went upstairs with the warrant in his hand, and, according to the woman, pushed open the door finding her there. She was taken to jail in default of $1,000 bail.

Investigations in the Allegheny graft crusade were continued with vigor yesterday. Attorneys Haymaker and Marron spent the greater part of the afternoon taking the testimony of a score or more of men and women. Following these consultations, Mr. Marron announced there were no new developments ready for publication because of the jeopardy the cases might be placed in, but that sufficient new evidence had been procured within the last few days to warrant decided action very soon.

Since District Attorney Stewart and his associates have successfully combatted with the obstacles that have been placed in their path, the gathering of testimony has gradually become an easier task and while witnesses were given to shielding the guilty in the outset of the investigation, testimony is now being offered without request. It is believed the master stroke of the investigation will be struck within a few days and that further and more important informations will be filed not later than the early part of next week.

The appeal of Sue Williams will come up in criminal court this morning, when the opposing forces of the investigation will meet face to face. Much will depend upon the disposition of this case, the defendant figuring in two cases already brought by the district attorney against Allegheny officials; that against Capt. Wilson for extortion and against Director Scandrett and Supt. of Police Campbell for conspiracy in arresting Sue Williams. A bitter and hard fight is expected this morning.

FERRISS ISSUES CALL.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—James H. Ferriss, chairman of the national committee of the Peoples party, has issued a call for a meeting to be held in this city some time during the next month for the purpose of forming a new national party. In his call for the gathering which he terms "A Jefferson Conference," Mr. Ferriss declares that the time has arrived for the consolidation of a number of progressive parties and factions under a broad Jeffersonian program.

The chief articles upon which he desires to form the new party are: Governmental control of the issuance and volume of money; postal savings banks; restoration of the income tax; the fullest possible protection to those who labor; adoption of the initiative and referendum; local option in the sale of intoxicating drinks; no imprisonment without trial by jury, and no government by injunction; and taxation and control of all corporations in the interest of the general public.

TUBE CITY CELEBRATED.

In Honor of Republican Victory Indulged in Great Parade, and Started Two Small Fires.

Tuesday's Republican victory was celebrated in McKeesport last night with a parade in which about 1,000 men marched or rode. At the head of the procession Mayor J. F. Falkenstein and Representatives James F. Woodward and David Hardy and other prominent Republicans rode in carriages. A woman on horseback attracted attention along the line.

The route of the parade was marked by a shower of fireworks, which caused two small fires. A ball from a Roman candle ignited the awning in front of the Chicago dairy and another destroyed an awning in front of Fred Held's store. In attempting to extinguish the first blaze several buckets of water were thrown from a second story window and pedestrians received a soaking.

CONGER MAY REQUEST THAT TROOPS BE SENT

Second Boxer Uprising in China Inevitable, Writes American Missionary.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOLOIT, WIS., Nov. 11.—In a letter from Charles F. Gammon of the American Bible society at Pekin, China, to his father, E. M. Gammon of Beloit, Mr. Gammon says a second Boxer outbreak is inevitable. He adds that United States Minister Conger is alive to the danger, and has notified the Chinese officials that unless the movement is suppressed at once he will request United States troops to be sent to Pekin. Mr. Gammon's letter reads in part as follows:

"In Shantung and Honon dates have been set for the slaughter of all foreigners. The general symptoms resemble those of 1900. Several secret societies, including the Boxers, have united in one great society, the purpose of which we do not understand. The officials are helpless because many of their underlings are members, and, in fact, are forced to obtain information from missionaries.

"The cause of the trouble I do not know wholly, but heavy taxation is one of them. This is being laid at the door of the foreigners."

MORGUE MYSTERY CLEARED AT LAST

The Body of the Sixth Street Bridge Suicide Is Finally Identified.

PROVED MOST PUZZLING CASE

The body of the young woman who leaped from the Sixth street bridge November 3 was identified last evening as that of Miss Frances Baird of Stockton avenue, Allegheny. Her mother is postmistress of a small town near Altoona. Why she committed suicide is a mystery.

The case proved one of the most baffling with which the morgue officials ever had to deal. This is the seventh time the woman has been identified, and the coroner and his assistants were beginning to believe her identity would never be solved. There is no doubt about this identification, however, and the brother of the young woman, who is employed on the Pennsylvania railroad, will be here today to claim the remains.

Miss Baird went to Allegheny October 25 and engaged boarding in a house in Stockton avenue. She was employed in Meyer Jonasson & Co.'s store. She kept company with a respectable young man of Allegheny. He had called upon her on the evening of November 2 and was to call again the following Sunday. He had secured two course tickets for the lectures at Allegheny Carnegie hall and they talked of the pleasure they expected to have during the winter attending this course. She seemed in the best of spirits and gave no hint of an intention to take her life.

Didn't Know Girl Was Missing.

When the young man called again Sunday evening he was told Miss Baird was not in. He called again since then, and it was not until yesterday the woman of the house learned she was missing. She stated she frequently did not see her for days at a time and thought nothing of it, but yesterday it was discovered she had not been in the house for a week.

Last evening the young man called at the morgue and saw the body. He was quite positive of her identity and asked to see the clothing. He recognized it, and then, with Deputy Coroner John Black, he went to Allegheny and the woman with whom she boarded went to the morgue and corroborated his identification. Neither of them could give any reason for the suicide. The young man had known her for some time. Both gave her the best of character and the causes which led her to take her own life are yet a mystery.

Six times was the body identified at the morgue and each time the identification proved incorrect. Twice the supposed victims appeared, alive and well, to dispute the correctness of the identification.

Reunited by a Corpse.

The body was first identified as that of Grace McNulty by the father of that young woman. He was positive of her identity and ordered the body removed to his home. Just as preparations were being made for the removal, Grace McNulty walked into the morgue. She had learned through the newspapers that her father had been at the morgue and claimed the body. She bore a striking resemblance to the dead woman and showed great concern over the mistake her father had made. She had been absent from home for some time, and the case was the result of father and daughter being reunited.

The next day the body was identified as that of Margaret Rafferty. This was later proved to be incorrect. Susie Kitchen was the next name given the unknown, and later Susie Kitchen was found to be alive and well. Three women went to the morgue and claimed the body as that of Ella Hunt of McKees Rocks. This identification proved to be faulty. Then came an identification which made her out to be Virginia McIntyre of Fairmont, W. Va.

Identification Seemed Probable.

The McIntyre identification seemed to be a good one. It was made by a woman in Fifth avenue with whom a young woman had roomed for three days last month. The roomer gave her name as Virginia McIntyre. She told her landlady that she was from Fairmont, W. Va. After staying at this house for three or four days she left, but returned again in a few days and seemed very melancholy. She told her landlady that she was going to commit suicide. That was the last seen of her by the landlady.

This woman described the McIntyre girl accurately. She said her eyeteeth were filled with gold and she wore her hair short and also wore a switch. This description fitted the body exactly. Yesterday the coroner received a telegram from Mrs. Homer Bartlett of Clarksburg, W. Va., saying she would be in Pittsburgh at 2 o'clock to identify the body. She came and at the same time Virginia McIntyre walked into the morgue. The young woman said she read in the papers of the identification, but had been unable to summon enough courage to visit the morgue before. She left in company with her aunt, Mrs. Bartlett.

Samuel M. Irwin of Braddock yesterday identified the woman as Rosa Washburn, but a telegram from Bellefonte, Pa., yesterday informed the coroner that Rosa Washburn was at her home there.

Miss Baird went to the Stockton avenue house with a Miss Dyer and had furnished her own meals in her room. Miss Dyer left several weeks before Miss Baird's suicide. The proprietress said she had learned Miss Baird had suffered four attacks of typhoid fever within eight months. She had lost her position at Myer-Jonasson's, but it was understood she had secured another with a millinery house in Federal street, Allegheny.

MORE CHARGES ARE TO FOLLOW

Assistant District Attorney Robb Working Up Evidence Against Additional Aldermen.

INFORMATIONS NEXT WEEK

Further informations charging irregularities will in all probability be made against Pittsburgh and Allegheny aldermen on behalf of the district attorney early next week. First Assistant District Attorney Robb stated yesterday that he was investigating a number of complaints charging aldermen with malfeasance in office. He expects to make informations and issue warrants by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Four additional arrests were made yesterday in connection with the charges against Aldermen Levy and Barton, Constable Louis Harris of Alderman Levy's office; Constable Peter Ausfinder of Alderman Barton's office, L. E. Aronson, clerk for Barton, and Charles Steiner, gave bail in $1,000 each before Alderman Toole for a hearing. Joseph Schwartz, H. J. Skidmore and William Fitzsimmons, who are also mentioned in the informations, had not been arrested at a late hour last night.

District Attorney Stewart intends to correct existing irregularities and misconceptions of the duties of office held by many aldermen. Among these is accepting bond for prisoners already committed to jail for trial. The law holds that once a prisoner enters the jail the alderman's power ceases.

Yesterday a case in point came before the courts, in which Abram Levine had been committed to jail by an alderman for selling liquor without license. Later the alderman accepted a bondsman and released Levine. The bondsman, however, had made only his mark and the name of the bondsman did not appear on the bond. Levine was tried, convicted and disappeared. Mr. Robb stated last evening the bond should not have been accepted by the alderman after a commitment had been made, although no criminal offense can be charged unless improper intent can be established.

Another and more serious complaint is the discharge of suspicious persons by police magistrates upon payment of fines. It is alleged that this charge has often been brought against criminals to afford them opportunity for escape.

Other charges under investigation allege the collection from the county of costs by aldermen in discharged cases, where settlement has been effected by the prosecutor or defendant, and even both, having already paid the costs. The drain upon the county for unpaid costs has been rapidly growing and is now approximated at over $15,000 a year.

POPULAR PROGRAM WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

Last Night's Concert by the Pittsburgh Orchestra Heartily Indorsed by Audience.

The first "popular" concert and the second in the regular series of the Pittsburgh Orchestra, was given in Carnegie Music hall last evening before an audience fully as large and just as enthusiastic, if not more so, as that which marked the initial performance of the organization this season. As a whole the concert was a great success, and the warm appreciation with which the long-time favorites of the public taste was received, argued well for the future concerts of this type.

The Haydn symphony in G minor, No. 13, was the first number on the program, and its sprightly third movement, the minuet, was one of the best played things of the evening. The Moszkowski "Serenata," with its light and graceful melody was one of the most applauded numbers. Following this was the well-known "Funeral March of a Marionette," in which Mr. Paur evoked some telling effects in tone.

The Roudino for wind instruments, in E flat, a work of Beethoven which is but little known and has never before been played at a Pittsburgh orchestra concert, proved an acceptable novelty.

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," Schumann's "Traumerei," and Mozart's "Turkish March," were all rendered excellently. "The "Ride of the Walkures" has perhaps never been better played in Pittsburgh, the improvement in quality of tone of the trombones being noteworthy. The delicious rythm and tuneful melody of that old favorite, "The Beautiful Blue Danube," Strauss' classic waltz, fittingly closed the concert.

Mr. Herbert Witherspoon, the soloist, is well known here, and his appearance is always attended with the warmest expectations and likewise the fulfillment of those expectations. His rich voice, a pure basso cantante, has improved since last year, seeming bigger and deeper. He sang in his usual finished manner the aria of Leporello, the "Catalogue Song," from Mozart's "Don Giovanni," and as encore gave a short German ballad. Mr. Witherspoon appeared in the second half of the program with the madrigal from the melodrama, "Vittoria," by Fiorfida, a charming song, charmingly sung. As an encore to this Mr. Witherspoon was forced, after many recalls, to sing a setting of Richard Herrick's poem, "To Anthea," beginning, "Bid Me to Live."

What the Baby Needed.

I suffered from nervousness and headache until one day about a year ago it suddenly occurred to me what a great coffee drinker I was and I thought maybe this might have something to do with my trouble, so I shifted to tea for a while, but was not better, if anything worse.

"At that time I had a baby four months old that we had to feed on the bottle, until an old lady friend told me to try Postum Food Coffee. Three months ago I commenced using Postum, leaving off the tea and coffee, and not only have my headaches and nervous troubles entirely disappeared, but since then I have been giving plenty of nurse for my baby and have a large, healthy child now.

"I have no desire to drink anything but Postum and know it has benefited my children, and I hope all who have children will try Postum and find out for themselves what a really wonderful food drink it is." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Both tea and coffee contains quantities of a poisonous drug called Caffeine that directly affects the heart, kidneys, stomach and nerves. Postum is made from cereals only, scientifically blended to get the coffee flavor. Ten days' trial of Postum in place of tea or coffee will show a health secret worth more than a gold mine. There's a reason.

BOOTH INDORSED BY DEMOCRATS

Administration Condemned and Controller Larkin and E. J. Frauenheim Are Praised.

LENNOX NOT AT ALL ALARMED

Frank P. Booth, the Republican candidate for common council in the Twenty-second ward, was indorsed last night by the Democrats of the ward at a regularly-called primary meeting. Mayor Hays wanted the indorsement of the Democrats for J. O. Bocksioce, the "independent" candidate, but in view of the resolutions adopted by the Democrats last night it is easily determined why the administration was unsuccessful in its efforts.

The meeting was called to order by John Cornyn, the Democratic ward chairman. Frank P. Booth was nominated. There was no opposition and the indorsement of Booth was made unanimous.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the city administration for its failure to carry out the pledges on which it was elected; the course of Controller Larkin in trying to hold the administration to its pledges was indorsed and E. J. Frauenheim was eulogized for resigning the city treasurership because he did not want to be connected with a pledge-breaking administration.

Mayor Hays, City Treasurer Steel and J. Smiley Wightman, president of select council, were closeted in the mayor's office yesterday. They discussed methods of defeating Booth.

The James Francis Burke Republican club of the Nineteenth ward will celebrate Republican victory by a parade through the East End tonight.

Snowden G. Lennox, select councilman-elect of the Seventeenth ward, does not fear that any attempt to contest his right to his seat on the ground of non-residence, will be successful. Lennox said yesterday that the last time he voted in Monrose was in 1898. In 1899 he voted in the Seventeenth ward and he has lived there continuously ever since. He paid taxes in Montrose after he left, but they were taxes on real estate he owned there. It is not thought the administration can drum up enough members to prevent Lennox from being sworn in. Too many members think like Robert H. Douglas, select councilman, who said Lennox's eligibility was a matter to be decided by the courts.

Robert Ostermaier said yesterday that the mention of his name as a candidate for the Republican nomination for city controller was entirely unauthorized and that he was not a candidate. Harvey A. Lowrie, former sheriff, announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for county recorder.

Saturday, November 12, 1904.

No doubt President Roosevelt thought he could not well refuse the invitation to attend the St. Louis fair after the vote of Missouri for the Republican ticket last Tuesday. He had declined to arrange for such a visit during the campaign, for it would have been difficult to disassociate it with the election then pending, but he can feel free now to enjoy the exhibit without any risk of having the trip misunderstood. It is to be hoped that he will decline any public reception involving an ordeal of handshaking. The time has passed when that sort of thing is expected by sensible people or approved by public opinion.

Commissioner Mercer proposes to call a public meeting to discuss the means for providing additional room for court business before deciding to impose two stories on the court house. This is a considerable concession to the manifested public sentiment against the planned "improvement." The public meeting, however, will be of value in proportion to the fairness of its composition. If it is representative of the community, its verdict, if it passes one, will have some weight, but if its membership shall be selected with reference to preconceived views on the matter it will be worthless. There has already been a tolerably full and frank expression of popular sentiment, and it is not favorable to the mooted plan.

The rumors of the fall of Port Arthur current in European capitals are probably the result of anticipations which are now shared by the Russian army in Manchuria. No more is heard of the talk about pushing on to the relief of Port Arthur, which was one of the reasons for action given in Gen. Kuropatkin's proclamation ordering the advance movement which the Japanese repulsed. The present inaction which characterizes the behavior of the two armies is probably a period of waiting until the fate of Port Arthur is decided. The activity of the Russians in entrenching themselves in their positions shows that there is no present idea of an advance. The Japanese on their side act as if they too are satisfied to have things remain as they are for the present.

It is all right for the chamber of commerce to discuss in private session plans for the Greater Pittsburgh movement, but in carrying on the movement all possible co-operation should be invited and every useful means of agitation employed. The chamber has adopted this policy and by resolution invites all persons and associations favorable to the movement to co-operate. The chamber has started upon a good line of work in appointing a committee to gather information as to the manner in which the consolidation of suburbs with cities was brought about elsewhere. There is much useful knowledge to be obtained in that direction and the experience of other cities as regards municipal organization will afford much valuable instruction for Pittsburgh if duly considered.

Yesterday's wreck of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas fast train, known as the "Katy flyer," adds to a frightful list of such casualties for this year. The majority of these have been on the western and southern single-track roads. A fair proportion are traceable to the operation of many world's fair excursion trains, having no regular schedules, but sandwiched in between freight runs. The remainder may be largely attributed to the effort to make very long runs in mileage time comparable to those of the better equipped trunk lines. There is a loud call for more care on those roads, more frequent inspection of rolling stock, better maintenance of way, or slower trains. Railroad men understand these things and they ought voluntarily to apply the remedies.

District Attorney Stewart's crusade against the Pittsburgh aldermen came as a surprise. It is timely, however. Without expressing any opinion concerning the guilt or innocence of the aldermen who have been arrested, it may be said that all who are familiar with the subject know that many abuses have grown up in the administration of justice, as it appears in the courts of justices of the peace in this and other counties. These abuses began with bringing cases before magistrates for the sole purpose of obtaining costs and fees. They gradually expanded to the acceptance of extra sums for quiet settlement and then to the preparation of charges for the purpose of levying blackmail. Many of the men who participate in the "blind men's parade" in quarter sessions devote their whole time to the hunt for cases promising large fees in secret. They can hardly be induced to perform the legitimate functions of their office. It cannot be doubted that many justices are in collusion with their constables. The system has grown up so gradually that some of the culprits are hardly aware that they are violating the law under the guise of enforcing it. The action of the district attorney should bring them to their senses, and it is certainly high time these corrupting practices should be halted. Nothing is more demoralizing than the miscarriage of justice and the pollution of the livery of the law.

The President's Position.

President Roosevelt's opponents, now that they have failed to defeat him at the polls, are hoping that he will defeat himself by an arrogant use of the power entrusted to him. The New York Times argues that his success at the polls has been so overwhelming "that the petty influence of particular leaders of factions vanishes into insignificance," and that the recognition which formerly might have been claimed from the president by "the Platts, the Odells, the Addickses, has no longer the slightest basis."

This anticipates that President Roosevelt will commit the blunder of Cleveland and imagine that he was elected to office as an individual and not as the head of a party. President Cleveland went so far as to say to congress in a formal message that civil service reform had progressed in spite of the opposition of congress, which was equivalent to saying that it was being extended by arbitrary decree and not by constitutional methods. The disastrous consequences of Cleveland's disregard of legislative support for his policy and neglect of means for obtaining it are written large in the history of the country. Even as regards wholly worthy purposes there is no room for a czar in our system of government.

There is, however, not the slightest danger that President Roosevelt will prsue the road to ruin to which his enemies direct him. He understands perfectly well that he was not elected to be general censor of morals, but to execute the office of president of the United States, and it so happens that the senators of the United States are his constitutional advisers. They may be bold, bad men in the opinion of the New York Times, but that does not destroy their constitutional rights. The true constitutional doctrine was correctly stated by the president himself in an article written a few years ago. He said:

> The senators are the constitutional advisers of the president, for it must be remembered that his cabinet is not in the least like the cabinet of which the prime minister is head in the English parliament. * * * The president and the senate are mutually necessary in matters of appointment. * * * In practice, under our party system, it has come to be recognized that each senator has a special right to be consulted about appointments in his own state, if he is one of the president's political party.

President Roosevelt is a man of high ideals and conscientious motives, but he is also a shrewd statesman, and thus he is able to make progress in the accomplishment of his ideals. No man understands better than he that he must assure himself of party support in any position he desires to take, and while differences are likely to occur and while doubtless he will be no less ready in the future than he has been in the past to exert with its full weight his constitutional authority, his administration will be in the fullest sense of the word a party administration, and every party man will have the weight and influence with the administration which his party position justifies.

Legislative Needs.

Returns at hand indicate that the house of representatives at Harrisburg will be more strongly Republican than ever before. There will be about 185 Republican members and 19 Democrats—possibly greater odds. There will not be enough Democrats to make up the committees without duplication extraordinary. In such a situation it is obvious the Republican majority will carry an unusual load of responsibility. There is much important legislation to come before the next session and the majority must be prepared to dispatch the business promptly and in proper form. No less than this will compensate the people for the confidence reposed in the party. There will be no appreciable minority to keep the balance, so the Republicans must look to that for themselves. Among the first necessities to this end is to have a good speaker in command. Happily there is no lack of good material among the Republican members for this purpose.

First on the list, on account of his experience and proven ability, is former Speaker Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia. Mr. Walton was speaker of the house in 1895 and again during the session of 1903. He will be a candidate for re-election and the house can hardly do better than to give him the reins. He is well versed in parliamentary law and procedure, has a good presence and command of the house, and his experience will weigh in the balance. His acquaintance with the membership of the new house will qualify him peculiarly to select committees for the work to be performed. There are others among the older members well equipped for this important post, but Mr. Walton stands easily at the head of the list as a first suggestion. Some may object that Speaker Walton has had his share of honors and while this may be admitted, it can hardly be doubted that all will appreciate the peculiar situation and surrender personal preferences in the interest of their party.

No Room for Our Mediation.

The revival of a story that a movement for mediation between Russia and Japan was likely to be initiated by President Roosevelt was promptly countered by a statement from Count Cassini that he had good reason to believe that Russia's emphatic opposition to any mediation would be respected by all neutral powers. The report about President Roosevelt's possible action came from London and was doubtless sent out in forgetfulness of the declaration from Secretary Hay some time ago. It was then stated that there would be no attempt at mediation by the government of the United States save at the request of both belligerents. Count Cassini, who is at Washington and is in communication with our government, therefore speaks advisedly when he says that he has good reason to know that nothing of the kind is contemplated.

The fact should be recognized that our government is not in a position to mediate as our attitude is not disinterested. The United States has protested against Russian retention of Manchuria as an infringement upon our treaty rights with China. Secretary Hay proclaimed the policy of the open door while Russia was attempting to close the door. We limited our opposition to Russia's policy to diplomatic protest. Japan went to war about it, but the position which Japan has taken is agreeable to the policy of our government while that of Russia is opposed to that policy. The position taken by our government was such as our national interests demanded, but it is a complete disqualification for the position of a mediator.

There is just one great power in a position to discharge that delicate office effectively—the same power that acted in that capacity between this country and Spain. France occupies such relations toward Russia that any attempt she may make toward mediation cannot but be regarded as friendly and disinterested. If France can do nothing in that direction no other power can, and it would be mischievous to try. The most encouraging sign of an approaching termination of the war is that French diplomacy is reported to be displaying activity in this direction. It is realized in Russia by this time that her Manchurian policy has been a ghastly blunder and the Japanese war is a parallel to the Spanish ulcer which Bonaparte regarded as having sapped the strength of his empire. To extricate Russia from her present plight upon as favorable terms as possible is an object which deeply interests France, and it may be regarded as certain that her mediation will be extended upon the first favorable occasion.

The Business Situation.

The presidential campaign of 1904 had less effect upon financial and commercial affairs than any similar event in the recollection of the present generation. Still it had some effect, which is evidenced by the strengthening of confidence since the election. The result of the latter was so decisive as to give absolute assurance that no radical change in national policy will occur during the next four years at least. The response to this assurance has been more confidence in the placing of orders for material and more active preparations for meeting the increased demand which is now in sight. The tone of the iron market, which for two months past has been improving, is now positively buoyant in some departments.

The stock market, which is ever on the alert to discount the future, has been broader and more active than at any time since the beginning of 1901, and values have reached the highest level of the year. It is very doubtful if Wall street can maintain its present pace, and it is not desirable that it should be maintained. The chief drawback to the maintenance of improvement in legitimate business three years ago was that some of our great captains of industry were carried away with the excitement of speculation. They became so dazzled by their success in Wall street that they could not bring a clear vision to bear upon the business horizon, or they became so intoxicated with the market as to neglect the mill. Bankers were also carried away on the same current, and instead of husbanding their resources for the regular commercial borrower they tied up their funds in questionable underwritings. The inevitable collapse brought speedy disaster to the speculators and severe hardship to the general business community. While a buoyant stock market produces a cheerful feeling which unconsciously influences even non-participants in the game, the ultimate effect is not good when it threatens to distract attention from business, as at present. A subsidence of this feverish activity, therefore, would be a good thing, and when reaction in the stock market occurs, as it certainly will, it should not be construed as a reflection of general trade sentiment.

The November government crop report, published yesterday, furnishes a substantial basis upon which to build hopes of increasing prosperity. The official figures as to corn indicate a total yield of 2,454,531,000 bushels, an increase of nearly 500,000,000 bushels over the unofficial estimates of experts two months ago. The general average as to quality is placed at 86.2 per cent, which compares with 83.1 last year and 80.7 two years ago. The yield of potatoes per acre is the largest and the quality the highest for many years, if not the best on record, and the same is true of hay. When to these three important crops is added that of cotton, which is being rapidly marketed, it is no exaggeration to say that the value of the products of the farm in 1904 is the greatest in our history. There is no better foundation for national prosperity than bountiful crops, and these have now been harvested in good condition.

There has been no presidential year in which the money market was so absolutely free from disturbance. The day before the election in 1896 call loans to New York stock exchange borrowers were quoted as high as 100 per cent. In 1900 the rate ranged between 20 and 25 per cent. The day before the election this week the rate ranged between 2 and 2½ per cent, and at no time during the campaign did it get above 3 per cent. The indications are, however, that with the increasing demands for business money will rule firmer, and if the rate gets high enough to check rampant speculation in the stock market it will perform a good service.

Two men on the Democratic side stand out pretty large in the party wreck—Joseph W. Folk of Missouri and William L. Douglas of Massachusetts. Both of them are likely to be heard from again. Mayor McClellan of New York also preserves elements of strength. Mr. Bryan has, however, on hand an assortment of millstones ready to hang about the neck of any man eligible to party leadership that will be enough to drag him down, however strong he may be.

Those fellows who picked up mail sacks along the Baltimore & Ohio Wheeling division yesterday are thieves of dangerous character and it is a pity there is no state constabulary to chase them to their holes. They are likely to be heard from again.

No more prize fights under the guise of boxing contests. Not as long as the district attorney's office can prevent them.

P. Gray Meek's still hunt for congressional districts no doubt helped to produce the gratifying results in Pennsylvania.

Increased orders for material and merchandise naturally follow the victory for the party of prosperity.

With the wreck of the "Katy Flyer" the long western lines should begin taking extra precautions.

Pike county, represented by a Republican congressman, may make a struggle to get on the map.

Colored citizens of West Virginia will retain the privilege of voting when properly qualified.

Apparently a majority of the Democrats are also rejoicing over the result.

Among the busiest places in the county is the district attorney's office.

Bill will be out of politics in January, all right, all right.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—How would you like to have a dainty Oncidium Tigrinum Unguiculatum, a beautiful Oncidium Varicosum Rogersi or a magnificent Cattleaya Labiata Vera? No, these are not things to eat, and neither are they the names of some newly discovered species of reptile. They are simply some rare types of orchids which can be seen in the Herald square exhibition hall, where the American Institute of New York is giving its annual chrysanthemum show. Today and for the next week the lovers of this and several other kinds of beautiful flowers will have a chance to see what is considered by many to be the finest exhibition of its kind ever shown here. Banked over one and a half acres of floor space are more than 1,000,000 chrysanthemums, 20,000 of these being of extra large size. The visitor, upon entering the hall, is confronted by an array of colors that is bewildering at first, while on every side are to be found other novelties which delight the eye.

Scattered about the hall are more than 2,000 single blooms of chrysanthemums, all of an unusual size. A big yellow one, 17 inches in circumference, which bears the distinguished name of Madame Carnot, takes the palm for size and beauty, and the managers of the floral exhibition say that they have never seen a similar kind of flower to exceed it. At every step the visitor finds something to wonder at. In one corner of the enclosure is a plant that has 40 varieties of chrysanthemums growing from one stalk. Each of the 40 flowers has a different color from the rest, giving the plant a kaleidoscopic appearance that is nothing short of beautiful. But one cannot tell all about it in a couple of hundred words. As the press agent says, it must be seen to be appreciated.

No Chance for the Poor Horse.

Sartorially the horse show next week will be one of the most brilliant ever seen, for gowns this season are so elaborate and effective that the horse will have a harder time than ever holding his own against the array of fashionable women whose frocks will be models of the coming season, according to "The Women's Page." One of the most noticeable things at the show will be the ermine that will be worn as never before. Regarded in times past as so expensive that it was used only sparingly, it now is arranged with no regard to quantity, indeed, apparently the more the better. Velvet, of course, lends itself as an excellent background, but lace, too, is combined, and whole coats and jackets are made of this fur, which is royalty's emblem. A novel touch is given this year's skins by the use of the whole animal, the heads and tails being made especial ornaments. Some of the flat muffs have a distinctly scalloped shape, the lower edge having three large waves.

Different Ways of Seeing "Parsifal."

And from the horse show it is only a step to "Parsifal," in regard to which Fanny Fair, a local fashion writer, gives the following sage advice: "One may perfectly well attend the English performance of 'Parsifal' and still show that one attended the German performance last year. All that is necessary is care in dressing. Don't go in full opera regalia, because that will not be showing respect for social leadership, and those things, you know, are important, especially now when there's so much rank socialism about. On the other hand, don't go in shirtwaist—first, because they aren't fashionable this year, and then, too, because no true lady should be afraid to show a respect for art, even when it is unauthorized by society. A compromise should be effected between a rather elaborate high-necked theater frock and a rather simple low-necked dinner gown. A jet frock cut low is good, or a white frock cut high. On the other hand, a jet frock cut high is not quite elaborate enough, whereas a white frock cut low is too elaborate."

Good Chance for Reciprocity.

Outside of the few politicians who are still engaged in telling one another how it happened, most of the men in both parties interested in the political organization are beginning to canvass the possibilities of the mayoralty election next fall. Although the election is still one year off, there is but one opinion among Democrats, and that is that Mayor McClellan will be renominated and re-elected. Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, in speaking of the next municipal election, today suggested the advisability of making the re-election of Mayor McClellan unanimous. He was told there was a report to the effect that the Republicans would not put up any candidate against Mayor McClellan.

"I hope that is true," said Mr. Murphy with a broad smile. "The Democrats of the country seem to have indorsed the Republican national administration and I do not see why the Republicans of this city should not indorse the local Democratic administration. Turn about is fair play, you know."

Feud for Swamp Angel Honors.

A deadly feud has broken out among the life-savers of Hoboken's dismal swamp. Prepare yourself to hear the worst. Their rivalry knows no bounds. If it comes to a show down for honors either side may, almost any dark night, resort to extreme measures. The Jeremiah O'Houlihans have for years been saving lives from the bottomless waters of the swamp, but their laurels are now threatened by the followers of the night watchman and other employes of the United States Rattan Campany, which lately moved to the swamp from Brooklyn. Three men have been rescued during the last week, and both sides claim the honors. The police are trying to preserve order and restore quiet, but there seems to be no hope of an amicable adjustment until one side shall have completely wiped the other from the shores of the mysterious swamp.

Nips of New York News.

Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan proved himself an exponent of the strenuous life by knocking out a masher who accosted a young lady he was accompanying to the theater.

We were promised snow for today, but only rain came.

An attempt to poison canine aristocrats at the toy dog show at the Waldorf-Astoria has resulted in calling out the reserves, and a squad of policemen now protect the prize winners.

A Brooklyn lad who failed to "make the football team," declares he would be a hero anyhow. He is now under arrest charged with trying to burglarize a candy store.

An organized effort is being made to secure street signs. Certainly they are needed—for the New Yorker as well as the country cousin who comes to town occasionally.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

I have more respect for boys than I have for men, because we generally know what a man is, but only God knows what a boy may be.
—James A. Garfield.

There is only one sure way in which to improve social conditions and to make the world better, and that is to improve the moral tone of the boy.

The average boy is all right. If he goes wrong it is because he has not been dealt with in the right way.

The trouble may be in his home, and it probably is, for the home usually gives trend to the character of a boy.

Rich people are also apt to spoil their boys. This is not because they think less of their boys, but because they can't take the time from social affairs, or from business cares, to attend to them properly.

And then these busy society people who don't have to work from morning till night in order to live seem to think their boys are all right. As a rule they look all right, being well dressed and stylish; but, as you very well know, looks are most mighty deceiving sometimes.

The boy who doesn't have to work for his living, either as a wage earner, or a helper at home, is in a bad way.

* * * * *

The bad boy who gets into the criminal or juvenile court is as a rule a product of the street, and mainly for the reason that the street gamin has no one to shield or to control him. Police officers are his enemies, and he has no respect for the folks at home, while police officers look upon him as a born criminal, and the folks at home are only too glad to be rid of his presence.

What can you expect of such a boy? Can he help becoming a criminal? Could you expect anything else of your boy? Or would you expect to be anything else had you been left to grow up in the street?

Is it not clear, therefore, that the proper thing to do, the only thing, is to get the boy out of the atmosphere that pervades the street? It would help a whole lot to change this atmosphere by purifying it, but that would be more difficult than to remove the boy to some place where there is a better atmosphere.

Sunday schools are all right as far as they go, but they don't go far enough, not by a long sight. They should go far enough to take in the street boy, and until they do this they will still be short in point of duty.

There isn't much sense in preaching about bad boys and bad men. The thing to do is to preach to them—not theological, doctrinal or fiery sermons, but talk to them about themselves. They take kindly to this sort of thing, so much so that they will come to you to hear you talk.

* * * * *

Judge Lindsay, Ben B., of the Denver juvenile court is showing what may be done with the bad boy. It is to him, more than to any other in sight, that we must turn for suggestions concerning the mischievous boy, the bad boy, the degenerate boy.

A few extracts from an address delivered by Judge Lindsay before the National Conference of Charities in Atlanta, will give you a hint at least of his methods of dealing with bad boys in his bailiwick, and they have 'em in Denver of all sorts and sizes.

"The best way to reform a boy waywardly disposed is first to understand him.

"You have got to get inside of him and see things through his eyes, understand his motives, have sympathy and patience with his faults, just as far as you can, remembering that more can be accomplished through love than by any other method.

"But I would not have you misunderstand me. It has been well said that 'love without justice is sentiment and weakness.' We must be just. There is no justice without love and yet we can judge in the light of both forgetting not firmness and the right of others.

"We cannot be just without the exercise of patience and a plentiful supply of those higher qualities of the soul which must be brought to bear if we are to call out the noblest impulses and the highest and most energetic forces of a child.

"The juvenile court and the probation system simply supply the machinery for doing this where heretofore such machinery was not permitted by the law. We pursued the blind, brutal, incongruous methods of recognizing a child as an irresponsible being in dealing with its dollars and cents, and denied it the right of contracting even while it was a minor, whereas when it came to offending against the law, when its moral welfare, its very soul was involved, we denied its irresponsibility and placed it upon the same plane and in the same category with an adult; and the child who through entirely different motives, or even granting, if you please, the same motives, would enter a grocery store for something to eat or your house for money to buy something to eat, was branded by the same terms or stigmatized with the same epithets as the burglar who enters your house in the night time with murder in his heart, and a pistol in his pocket."

* * * * *

In this day and age we count all things, at least most things, in dollars and cents.

Have you ever counted the cost to the state of allowing a boy to continue bad as compared with that of making him a good boy?

Judge Lindsay has done this, and done it carefully and accurately, for he was after the facts, the true facts, so to speak. Following are two cases, the likes of which we have many right here at home.

"I went to the police records and the records of the criminal court, and I figured up in court costs, jury fees, jailer's fees, mileage, attorneys for the defense for poor person, keep in jail and at the Industrial school, the total sum of $1,036.76. I figured up a similar case, which, I believe, amounted to $839.

"Do you know what it has cost the people of the state of Colorado to not only make a good boy of the $800 specimen, but to place him in the navy of the United States as a promising youth and a useful citizen? It has cost just $11.99.

"The same sum has been expended for this $1,000 distortion up to the present time after nine months on probation, with an entirely satisfactory record, excepting possibly one offense of no serious consequence considering the case.

"But my friends, it takes patience.

"Boys have feelings. They like to have friends. There isn't much use to try to arouse pride unless there be someone whom they want to please and in pleasing will in turn be pleased. If they have no friends, the first thing to do is to supply the friend, and the pride, in most cases, will come out. If they have the wrong kind of friends, it is a good thing to quietly supply the right kind."

The following from Judge Lindsay's report of cases cited in evidence in the case of the People vs. The Bad Boy, will be specially interesting to our merchants in particular and to good people generally.

"Recently in Denver certain prominent merchants were greatly annoyed by the profanity of boys who congregated in a certain alley of an evening newspaper. Much complaint was also made about the petty gambling and other offences of these boys, most of them newsboys. A number of individual boys, charged with such offenses, have been brought into the juvenile court. In every case they have reformed their habits to the entire satisfaction of the court.

"A friend of mine told me that he had overheard one of these street boys deliver himself of the following to a new boy in court:

"'Now look-a-here, John, if you knows what is good fur you, you'll stay by de Judge. He's square, he is, wid de kids, and de kids has got to be square wid him, and de first kid dat goes back on him is going to git smashed, see?'

"This boy was one of the number reporting to the juvenile court, who came to me voluntarily recently and delivered himself of the following advice: 'Now, Judge, dare ain't no use tryin' to get dem cops to stop dose kids shootin' craps, swipin' things and raising h——. De cops can't do it. De kids is too sharp for 'em. De only way you can ever git it stopped is to git the gang up here and tell the push you want it done, and dere ain't a kid among 'em, in my opinion, dat won't go down de line wid you. Anyway, dey'll do more to make de kids stop dere swearin' and shootin' craps and swipin' fruit dan all de cops in town.'

"I call that loyalty to the court. I call it co-operation. We haven't organized the anti-crap society yet, but the boys on the street are anxiously looking forward to it, and a number of boys have come to my chamber to tell me, 'not to bodder wid de cops, that de kids is sittin' ready to stop crap shootin', if you want it done.'

"It is as natural for street boys to gamble as it is for them to eat, and I am not entirely sanguine of the success of the anti-crap society; yet I am sure that my counselor is entirely right, that 'de kids' can do more to stop crap shooting than all the 'cops' on the force."

CLAUDE MERCER.

AN ALLEGHENY LEGEND.

Where the pleasant Allegheny,
Singing, dancing through her valleys,
Kissing soft the vernal mosses,
Laughs into the autumn twilight,
Came swift-footed Hiawatha,
He, and Shingebas the Diver;
Came to where the bridge at Sixth street,
Arching o'er the yellow waters,
Crosses to the northern wigwams
(Darkened wigwams where on Sunday
Are changed sometimes for wampum
Foamy draughts and firewater.)

"There," said Hiawatha, pointing
To the mighty piers and girders,
"Is a leap to fright thee, Diver!
From the topmost arching summit
Of yon iron semi-circle
Canst thou fall and like an arrow
With thy strong hands cleave the waters?
Ho!"—said Hiawatha taunting—
"'Tis a feat to try a diver!"
Then the strong one, much offended,
Frowning turned on Hiawatha.
"Think'st to give the merry ha ha
To me, Shingebas the Diver,
That have wrestled with the north wind,
Fearing naught in sky or water?"

Clamb he swift the iron framework
To the topmost lofty summit,
Looked in scorn at Hiawatha,
Laughed, and circled like an arrow
Downward, cleaving sharp the wavelets—
But the savor of the fluid
Sickened soon the mighty diver:
Swallowed he about a quart of
Allegheny river water
With its store of novel gases,
With its microscopic dragons
And its army of bacilli.

Then the Pittsburgh microbe started
In immediately investigating his internal structure;
Wand'ring o'er his lungs and liver,
Through the length of his aorta,
Up and down his spinal column,
Outward to the capillaries,
And, at last, in many places
Pierced his swarthy epidermis.

So, where Allegheny, singing,
Joins in love the bold Ohio
Floated, slain of many microbes,
He that battled with the north wind,
Shingebas, the mighty diver!
And the softly flowing waters
Sighing, percolated through him.

Don't press people for the truth about yourself; if you do—you'll either be deceived or offended.

Jim—How was that?
Joe—He went home sober and his wife didn't know him.

"Don't you think Mrs. Talkey is very bright?" asked Miss Take. "She has such an untiring wit."
"Yes," said Miss Canstique, "if her wit were not so untiring it would not be so tiresome."

"I think sometimes, when I've been a bigger fool than usual," said Uncle Si, the Corners philosopher, "that I'm the banner jackass o' the caunty—but ez soon ez I study the human race a leetle more I allus come to the conclusion that no family's got a corner on the fool market!"

"Oh, Lord!" ejaculated a nervous old lady, as she ran into a particularly ugly specimen of the genus Dwarf; "what on earth are you, a goblin?"
"No'm," he replied surlily.
"Well, mercy me! it's just the same!"

Answers to Correspondents.

Why He Won.

When a candidate for president like Theodore Roosevelt has carried 38 out of 45 states, has won 343 out of a possible 476 votes in the electoral college and has a popular plurality approaching 2,000,000, it is wasting good lung power to talk about conservatism or plutocracy or free trade or imperialism or anything else. Mr. Roosevelt has swept the country because his personality appealed with irresistible force to the imagination of the American people. So what's the good of holding an inquest and making a pretense of taking testimony?—New York World.

The Prisoner—But, Your Honor, I own the car—I'm not a chauffeur!

ENDEAVOR.

I.

An act of kindness when the day
Is young and fair:
A cheering word to charm away
Some wan one's care.
And, though all else be done in vain,
That day has still brought precious gain.

II.

A high resolve, a kindly thought
When morning's glow
Is on the earth and night is not—
Good will—and, though
The tasks may press, the fetters gall,
That day brings triumph, after all.

PUTS QUIETUS ON FALSE REPORTS

Steel Corporation Is Not Seeking to Absorb Smaller Competitors.

THE LACKAWANNA TROUBLE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 11.

It can be stated positively there is no intention on the part of the United States Steel Corporation to buy up, control or merge with either the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, the Republic Iron and Steel Company, or the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company.

"The Steel Corporation," said a member of its executive committee today, "is not buying up or absorbing any of its smaller competitors, nor has it any intention of doing so. Neither have we any intention of bringing out any new financial plan, nor has the company any intention of selling the $30,000,000 5 per cent bonds which it has in its treasury as a result of the cancellation of the syndicate agreement with J. P. Morgan & Co.

"The officers are very well satisfied with the manner in which business is coming in, and the trade is shaping itself for a prosperous year in 1905."

In the steel rail trade a condition exists which is the only gloomy spot of the general steel trade outlook. A breach exists between the Lackawanna Steel Company and the other members of the steel rail pool, concerning the proportion, or allotment, of rail business which the Lackawanna company demands. That company is not a member of the steel rail pool, but has always maintained prices. This year the company is in a position to make more rails than it did last year, and its officials have intimated that its percentage of rail business will have to be enlarged.

Negotiations are in progress with a view to settling the dispute, but so far the efforts have proved unavailing. The Lackawanna company has assumed the attitude that unless it receives the tonnage it demands it will remain a "free lance," obtaining as much business as it can handle, at the best prices.

Steel trade authorities stated today that the price of rails will in all probability be lowered at the forthcoming meeting of the rail makers. It is predicted that a reduction of at least $2 a ton will be made, while others believe that prices will be cut to $24 a ton, or a reduction of $4 as compared with prices for the last two or three years.

Large orders are pending the action of the steel rail pool, providing of course that concessions are made. The advance in the price of billets expected on Tuesday next reflects the better market for pig iron.

The card rate is 1.2 cents and the base for puddling is $4 60 as before. The settlement was made here between James H. Nutt, representing the Republic Iron and Steel Company, and President Theodore J. Shaffer, Vice President Richard Fitzgerald and Thomas L. Jones, representing the Amalgamated association.

THOUSANDS OF FAIR WOMEN HERALD PRAISES OF PE-RU-NA

Catarrh and Catarrhal Diseases Make Invalids of More Women Than All Other Ailments Combined.

Suffered Long With Catarrh.

Miss Clara Case, 715 9th street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I can think of no event in my life that fills me with more gratitude and at the same time a sense of future security, as a cure after long suffering from catarrh, brought about by using Peruna as directed. It has completely cured me."—Clara Case.

Entire System Toned by Pe-ru-na.

Miss Mary Bennett, 1619 Addison Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"A few months ago I contracted a cold by getting my feet wet and although I used the usual remedies I could not shake it off.

"I finally took Peruna. In a week I was better. After several weeks I succeeded in ridding myself of any trace of a cold, and besides the medicine had toned up my system so that I felt splendid."—Mary Bennett.

Physicians Had Given Up the Case—Now Entirely Well.

Miss Gertrude Linford, Vice President Parkside Whist Club and teacher of whist, 221 Niagara street, Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"Peruna has effectually cured me after physicians had practically given up my case.

"For a long time I suffered with catarrh of the kidneys, had a weakness and pain in the back, lost flesh rapidly, my feet were swollen, my face was puffed under the eyes and I had a waxy sallowness of the skin.

"I took Peruna for some time and am entirely well. I cannot indorse Peruna too strongly."—Gertrude Linford.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, do not delay. Take Peruna at once. Delays are dangerous.

Miss Nalley's Story—Short, But Interesting to Every Woman.

Miss Addie Nalley, 137 D street, S. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"A cough, the grip, catarrh of the meanest kind—all sorts of remedies, home, patent and prescribed by doctors, and no relief—that tells my story, a story of suffering and distress that lasted four years.

"Then—three bottles of Peruna—catarrh gone, appetite and strength returned—a happy woman, and none more grateful for the blessing of health—that is what Peruna has done for me."—Addie Nalley.

READY FOR BIG RIVER MEETING

Pittsburgh Delegation Will Leave in a Special Car Next Tuesday Morning.

ARE FULL OF THEIR WORK

All arrangements for the tenth annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association have been completed, and the Pittsburgh delegation will leave in a special car over the Ohio River railroad from the Union station, at 7:45 next Tuesday morning. The party will arrive in Huntington, W. Va., the convention town, about 3 o'clock that afternoon, and be ready for the fall of the gavel when the convention opens Wednesday morning. It will last three days and the Pittsburghers will return to this city Saturday.

The convention this year will be the largest the association has yet held, and a large delegation is going from Pittsburgh. The association feels justly proud of the work which has been accomplished since its organization, and the completion of several of the big improvements it backed has lent added interest to its work this year.

The association was organized October 8, 1895. Since that time it has succeeded in having congress authorize a survey of the Ohio river from Pittsburgh to the mouth of the Big Miami and fix the location for 37 locks and dams, including Davis island dam. Of these improvements the construction of Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 11, 13, 18, 19 and 37 have been authorized, and work upon them is now progressing. Dam No. 6, at Merrill, was completed August 3 and opened with great ceremony.

Pittsburgh's Future Great Harbor

Dams 2, 3, 4 and 5 will be finished within the next two years, when the Pittsburgh harbor will be extended to Rochester. The importance of the work accomplished by the association cannot be realized by those whose business does not bring them into direct connection with the river interests, but the stimulus that will come to Pittsburgh trade and manufacturers from an "all-the-year-around river" cannot be overestimated. When these dams are completed this city's title of "The Gateway of the West" will be made good.

No program for the work of the convention will be prepared until it opens its sessions. Important matters are to be brought up and the reports on what has been accomplished will be more complete and encouraging than they have ever been. The association points with pride to the fact that during the nine years of its existence more legislation of a general character has been passed by congress for the improvement of the waterways than ever before in the history of the country. During the next year still further work is to be accomplished, and the association is preparing data to be submitted to manufacturers and merchants along the rivers, acquainting them with the advantages to be derived from these improvements.

Short Route to the Orient.

With an improved Ohio river and the completion of the isthmian canal, both of which will be completed about the same time, Pittsburgh will be as near to all the ports of the Pacific coast and those of the orient as New York. The steel and iron products of Pittsburgh will be shipped directly by boat from this city to New Orleans at all times of the year, without waiting on the rise of the rivers. The entire Ohio valley will become a manufacturing district of greater importance than any other in the world. All of these facts will be brought forward in the literature which the association expects to issue this coming year for the information of those whom this improvement will chiefly benefit.

J. Frank Tilly of the Pittsburgh Coal company, has charge of the arrangements for the transportation of the Pittsburgh delegation. Any person interested in the improvement of the rivers is cordially invited to take part in the trip and to attend the convention. An elaborate program for the entertainment of visitors has been arranged by the Huntington people and a most enjoyable time is promised all who attend. Among those who will go from this city will be George H. Anderson of the chamber of commerce; James A. Henderson of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet line; J. Frank Tilly, J. W. C. Johnson and Capt. Rodgers.

CITY OFFICIALS LEAVE LITTLE WAIFS TO FATE

Mother Writes Pathetic Appeal, Which Does Not Move Charities Authorities—Tots Spent 24 Hours in Union Station.

Hungry after spending over 24 hours alone in the Union station and without a friend in a strange city, two little negro waifs, aged 3 and 7, were taken into charge yesterday by the officials of the Humane society and a temporary home provided for them. The children are Pauline and Ernest Brewer of Williamsport, Pa. They had been put on a Pennsylvania railroad train at Williamsport in charge of the conductor by their mother and arrived in Pittsburgh Thursday.

The oldest child had a letter signed by the mother, Dorothy Brewer of 320 Third street, Williamsport, addressed to the "Constable of Pittsburgh," which asked him "to see that these children are put in the Pittsburgh Colored Orphans' Home." The mother wrote a pathetic appeal that the children be cared for, as she was sick and without means. She said she hoped to see them once before she died. No one about the station knew of a "Pittsburgh Colored Orphans' Home," and the children stayed all night Thursday and until last evening at the station.

Station Master W. H. Nelbaum yesterday notified the city department of charities of the case, but the city officials refused to have anything to do with the children because they had come from outside of the city. It devolved then upon a private society to play the part of the Good Samaritan when the city authorities failed to provide relief and Supt. James S. Bell of the Humane society was called upon. He had the children taken to the society's rooms and later they were placed in the care of the officials of the Avery industrial school in Allegheny until their case is investigated.

BIGELOW RETURNS HOME.

Mysterious About His Trip to Philadelphia. Meets Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Director Bigelow went east Thursday night and returned to the city last night. The director was mysterious about his trip and refused to give out any information. He was in Philadelphia and it is believed that he went there to consult Pennsylvania railroad officials about the plans for the new East Liberty station and also the abandonment of the station at Brushton.

The people of Brushton, or the Thirty-seventh ward, have made a vigorous protest against the abandonment of this station, which is to take place on November 15, but Robert Pitcairn says that the order to shut it up still stands.

TO ABANDON GIRARD PLANT.

Steal Hoop Mills in Ohio Town to Go Out of Business—May Call Strike Off.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—With the announcement that the American Steel Hoop department of the Carnegie Steel Company will abandon the Girard plant, that one mill will be moved to Pittsburgh and the rest of the plant boarded up, the explanaiton is given that the cost of production, with the commissary department keeping its non-union men in the mill, is too great.

The abandonment of the plant there will be a blow to Girard. The tannery recently burned and on these two industries the village was kept going. It is intimated that the district board of the Amalgamated association may declare the strike off.

TUNNEL STREET CARS WILL RUN ONE WEEK FROM TODAY

Opening of the New Line Through Mt. Washington Will Be Duly Celebrated by Hilltoppers.

With a trip of members of the Hill Top board of trade, officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and other specially invited guests, the tunnel of the Railways company through Mt. Washington, opposite the Smithfield street bridge, will be formally opened a week from today. It will be opened to the public the following Sunday or Monday.

The last stretches of track are being laid and the finishing work generally is being rapidly completed. The new route gives access to West Liberty, Mt. Washington and the hill tops, connects with the line up the Monongahela river and will reach ultimately to Washington, Pa., and Wheeling. Its special value at present is due to the fact that it eliminates the torturous route now needed to reach the country back of Mt. Washington and opens up to development much real estate which without this line has been kept far below the market value deserved by its nearness to the center of the city.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has also let the contract for building the extension of the Bellevue line to West View. It connects with the present line at Lincoln and Rodgers avenues. Single tracks will be laid in Thomas and Rodgers avenues, for outbound and inbound cars, the tracks joining to form a double-track system at Forest avenue. It is expected the road will be ready for operation in the spring.

President J. D. Callery of the Pittsburgh Railways Company said yesterday the company will make formal application for an extension of the time within which it must build the lines recently authorized by the Ben Avon and Emsworth councils.

Two Burned in Auto Explosion.

The explosion of an automobile belonging to William Graff, in front of his residence, 5411 Penn avenue last night, resulted in his son, Richmond, and John Hinden, a negro, being badly burned about the hands and face. The machine, which is a valuable one, was totally wrecked.

BOOMERS AT LOSS HOW TO PROCEED

Greater Pittsburgh Committee of Chamber of Commerce Holds Secret Session.

MORE INFORMATION WANTED

The Greater Pittsburgh boomers are uncertain how to proceed to bring about the annexation of Allegheny and other cities and boroughs of the county with Pittsburgh, and at a meeting of the committee of the chamber of commerce yesterday a sub-committee was appointed to secure information from the experiences and methods of other cities which will be used as a guide. This subcommittee consists of George R. Wallace, Oscar Rosenbaum and Harry F. Davis.

Expansion of the city was discussed informally by the committee, but no conclusion was reached as to how the larger city is to be made. Some were in favor of a new law by the legislature incorporating the entire county, but others opposed this idea as unpopular and argued that the people of the territory proposed to be annexed should be given the privilege of voting on the proposition as were the voters of New York, Brooklyn and other sections of what now constitutes Greater New York.

It was pointed out that Greater New York was formed after the legislature had appointed a commission which reported four years later, in 1894, in favor of expansion, and recommending the boundaries, the legislature then authorizing a vote to be taken of the people of the cities and boroughs within the territory affected.

The law enacted by the last legislature permits of the annexation of any part of the county to Pittsburgh, but some of the boomers of a Greater Pittsburgh fear that it might be extremely difficult to get the necessary 20 per cent of the taxable voters of Allegheny to sign a petition to permit the question of annexation to be submitted to a popular vote. Prominent Alleghenians attended the meeting yesterday and spoke in favor of annexation, but it is not believed that it can be brought about by a flat of the legislature which would exclude the people of the North Side having a vote on the question.

Some of the adjacent boroughs and townships of the county have already taken steps to become part of Pittsburgh. Elliott borough has already been voted into the city and its annexation will formally take place on the first of next January. The residents of Sterrett township, adjoining the East End and Wilkinsburg, are asking to be admitted to the city, and other outlying districts want to come in under the act of 1903. The city of Allegheny has the same opportunity.

The holding of a secret session yesterday afternoon caused a great deal of unfavorable criticism and earnest advocates of the movement stated they believed such proceedings would be harmful to the project. Harry F. Davis opposed "star chamber" sessions, but he was voted down, the motion of George H. Anderson to exclude representatives of the newspapers being carried.

Besides appointing a committee to secure data concerning the consolidation of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago and other cities, the chairman of the committee was authorized to appoint two other sub-committees, one on scope and method of procedure and the other on literature. A resolution was adopted calling upon civic organizations, firms and individuals to co-operate in the movement.

WHY MORE STUDENTS DO NOT ENTER MINISTRY

Serious Question Is Discussed at Conference of Notable Educators, Churchmen and Editors.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The serious falling off in the number of college men who are seeking to enter the ministry was the subject of a conference here today, called by John R. Mott, general secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation.

Among those who participated in the discussion were Dean Hodges of the Episcopal Divinity school, Cambridge; Dean Warren of the Boston University School of Theology; President Harris of Amherst college; President Raymond of Wesleyan university, and Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts. There were present a large number of educators, church leaders and editors of denominational papers.

A series of similar conferences will be held in the principal cities of the country.

Train Has a Narrow Escape.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Pittsfield express, one of the fastest trains on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, narrowly escaped destruction near Port Chester tonight. Soon after leaving that place, while running at a mile a minute speed, it struck a door which had fallen on the tracks from a passing freight car. The train left the tracks and went crashing along the ties on the high bridge. The passengers were greatly shaken up before the locomotive could be stopped. The accident happened on Dead Man's curve, where a dozen people have been killed.

WAS A TRUE KNIGHT ERRANT FOR SISTER

Baltimore Police Release Pittsburgh Lad Who Was Hunting the Girl's Deceiver.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—The police today dismissed Hugh Cavanaugh and Walter Manger, two Pittsburgh boys who reached Baltimore after an adventurous journey, in quest of the sister of Cavanaugh, who, they said, had eloped with a bigamist. The police held them as runaways.

Today a message was received from young Cavanaugh's father saying the boy's sister, who was formerly a saleslady in a large department store in Pittsburgh, eloped about five months ago with a man also employed in the store. About a week ago, it is alleged, the girl's family learned the man she married has a wife living in Pittsburgh.

The youthful brother determined to find his sister, persuade her to accompany him back home, and prosecute the man who had deceived her.

Susan Anthony's Brother Dead.

LEAVENWORTH, KAS., Nov. 12.—Col. Daniel Reed Anthony, for nearly half a century editor and proprietor of the Leavenworth Times, died today. During that time he did much to shape the destiny of his state. He was born at Adams, Mass., and spent his early years in New York. He was a brother of Susan B. Anthony.

TAGGART WILL NOT RESIGN; VIEWS DEFEAT SERENELY

No Excuse to Offer—Headquarters Will Be at Indianapolis and French Lick Springs.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has no intention of resigning his post according to a statement made today. He has no excuse to offer for his party's defeat.

"I have returned to New York the same as I left it, a Democrat," he said. "No man, no policy nor any platform would have stopped the cyclone in favor of Roosevelt. There is no accounting for cyclones. Neither party had expected it, nor did either have a line on it. The utmost harmony exists among the members of the committee, and there is no need for reorganization. The national headquarters will be at Indianapolis and at French Lick Springs."

Our men's suits and overcoats at $8.50

THE first thing we want to distinctly impress upon your mind regarding our men's suits and overcoats at 8.50 is the emphatic fact that they are regular $12 to $13.50 garments—that is to say, if bought and sold in the regular way they would command those prices.

8.50 This insures you most unusual value. The next item of import to you is, that our line at this one price alone is greater than 8.50

the combined three lines of any other store. This means that you have an almost unlimited choice at your command of stylish patterns in cassimeres, cheviots and worsteds. The tailoring and fit of these garments are such as will win the approbation of even critical dressers.

Our men's suits and overcoats at 15.00

Pay the average merchant tailor $25 and you get no better clothing than the Kaufmann suits and overcoats at $15. They are invested with that character and individuality which must appeal to expert judges of good clothes, and find favor with most particular men.

15.00 Think of a range of choice which comprehends in suits about 55 styles and in overcoats about 40. Can you 15.00

conceive how it is possible not to please the fancy of almost every man? Five dollars more at other stores will not give you equally good garments. We've never before offered such splendid suits and overcoats for the sum of fifteen dollars.

Our finer and finest grades, 18.00 to 35.00

These will come up to the most exacting requirements of even the hypercritical dresser. Made from the same materials as are to be found in the leading tailor shops, cut by artist cutters in conformity with the most up-to-date dictates of fashion—and put together by expert journeymen tailors, these garments are the equal of any first-class merchant tailor work. Your examination will readily attest to this statement. You'll find the collars and lapels worked by hand, the shoulders hand-padded, the buttonholes hand-made, the styles the most recent and every other detail up to the point of perfection. To fully appreciate the merits of our suits and overcoats at $18, $20, $25, $30 and $35 you must see them, try them on and note the splendid fit and superb tailoring.

YALE AND PRINCETON READY FOR THEIR STIRRING STRUGGLE

TIGER COACHES ARE WELL SATISFIED

Princeton in Good Shape for Battle With Yale—Weaknesses Eradicated.

ELIS ARE IN NEW YORK

YALE IS FAVORITE OVER THE TIGERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Yale will go on the field tomorrow a slight favorite over Princeton, both in the betting and on form. The odds in Wall street today opened at 10 to 8, favoring Yale. At these prices Princeton supporters laid very large amounts.

At 5 to 4 there was more Princeton money offering than Yale could absorb, a condition almost unprecedented in Wall street. At the close the Yale betors were demanding 10 to 9, while Princeton was offering 8 to 10.

HOW THE CONTESTANTS WILL LINE UP TODAY

Yale.		Princeton.
Shevlin	L. E.	Crawford
Bloomer	L. T.	Cooney
Kinney	L. G.	Dillon
Rowaback	C.	Dutcher
Tripp	R. G.	Short
Hogan	R. T.	Stannard
Neal	R. E.	Tooker
Rockwell	Q. B.	Burke
Hoyt	L. H.	Ritter
Owsley	R. H.	Poe
Leavenworth	F. B.	Miller

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—The Tigers indulged in no regular work today beyond light signal practice to keep their hand in. The men will meet the Elis tomorrow in the pink of condition, and the Tigers are giving odds of 9 to 7 on their team. Although Yale has somewhat the advantage in weight, it is nevertheless felt that it will not serve the Elis to make their chances more than even.

Princeton's team showed something of the possibilities of which it is capable when once aroused when it met the Army. That was a week ago, and in that game it was not nearly so determined to win as it will be tomorrow. During the past week many of the old weaknesses have been eradicated, and the coaches are satisfied with the results as coaches ever get to be. Considering the prospects that were developed by the miserable work done at the first of the season, the development of the team has been something truly wonderful.

Out of a bunch of almost entirely raw material Princeton has developed what bids fair to be a championship team.

For a victory, tomorrow the Tigers pin their faith on the general strength and swiftness of the team, on its magnificent unity in action and on the pluck of the men to help each other.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—With every man of the Yale eleven except Morse, a halfback, in good physical condition, save that a few have bruises which will not incapacitate them, the squad left this evening for New York. Tomorrow morning they will go to Princeton, accompanied by several thousand graduates and students. Tonight less than 200 students, however, cheered the departing players, a surprising lack of enthusiasm.

The comparative ease of yesterday and today, together with skillful handling by doctors and trainers, have done wonders for men who were "off" in condition most of the week. The players and coaches are more confident than the mass of the students. The latter and the general public knows little, if anything, of the secrets of the play behind closed doors.

That Yale should win if Princeton is not distinctly in a class by herself, was the burden of coaches and belief tonight. Captain Hogan would say only that he and his team would do their best and hoped to win. As to the lineup, there is doubt tonight as to whether the back field will go in. The rush line will be: Shevlin, left end; Bloomer, left tackle; Kinney, left guard; Rorahack, center; Tripp, right guard; Hogan, right tackle; Neal, right end; Rockwell, quarterback. The back field will probably be: Hoyt, left halfback; Owsley, right halfback; Leavenworth, fullback.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Harvard plays her last home football game and her last game before meeting Yale tomorrow, Holy Cross being her rival. It has been several years since these teams have met on the gridiron, and Holy Cross is expected to put up a hard fight, though she is not considered dangerous in the least.

Harvard had an easy day today, the varsity being lined up against the second for only a 20-minute half, in which the varsity scored four touchdowns on rushing the ball for short gains. There was considerable fumbling and the offense was ragged. The varsity was allowed to keep the ball most of the time in order to give it a chance to perfect its team play.

Meier was slightly injured in today's scrimmage, the right tackle again banging the arm that he injured in the Dartmouth game a week ago. Hurley is not back in condition, and he may not go into the game tomorrow. Schoenfuss, the big university shot putter, will have his first game at guard tomorrow.

LOU DILLON AGAIN LOWERS WORLD'S MARK

Made the Mile at Memphis in 2:01 Flat, Unpaced and Without Wind Shield.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 11.—Lou Dillon smashed the world's unpaced record at the driving park today, by completing the mile in two minutes and one second flat. The former unpaced record, 2:01¼, was held jointly by Lou Dillon and Major Delmar.

The daughter of Sidney Dillon was driven by Millard Sanders, her trainer, and was accompanied by a runner at the side. The weather conditions were not the best, the day being cold and disagreeable. Today's meeting had been properly advertised so as to give Lou Dillon's performance an official rating.

After scoring twice the word was given. The little mare stepped the first quarter in 30 seconds flat. When straightened out down the back stretch, Sanders called on her for a faster effort and the half mile post was passed in 59⅘ seconds. The runner challenged the mare in the turn for home and she passed the three-quarter post in 1:30. When well lengthened out for the flight to the wire, Lou Dillon slightly faltered, but passed the judge's stand in 2:01.

Both horse and driver, upon their return to the stand, received the plaudits of those present. Lou Dillon will be shipped to New York on Monday.

The name and position in which the runners finished are as follows:

SMATHERS' STRING WILL BE SOLD

Headed by Major Delmar It Is the Greatest Lot of Horses Ever Put on the Block.

LIST OF THE HORSES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The expectation of many horsemen that E. E. Smathers would reconsider his decision to sell his entire racing stable and would retain some of his champions is doomed to disappointment, for Mr. Smathers makes final announcement that every horse consigned to the "old glory" sale will go to the "highest bonafide bidder." There have been several great horse sales in this country, chief among them being the disposal of the Palo Alto breeding stud of the late Senator Leland Stanford. Daly's Blitter Root farm, the Glen View, Fair Lawn and Forbes and Speirs. But horsemen say never has a greater lot of high class harness racing horses belonging to an individual than the Smathers string ever gone to the auction block.

The consignment is headed by Major Delmar (2:01¼), that has gone more extremely fast miles than all other champion trotters, including Lou Dillon and Cresceus. Then there is John M. (2:02¾), pacer, that made two season records and one world's record, and stepped more fast miles in actual races than all others combined, and, with the exception of Dan R. in 2:02, paced the fastest mile in a race this season.

Sadie M., 3 (2:11¼), is another. She is the champion 3-year-old trotting filly of 1903 and winner of the fastest heat to wagon this year in 2:08¾, only one other horse doing better—Monte Carlo in 2:08.

Other Smathers horses to be sold are: The famous Billy Buch, 2:07½, unbeaten in 1903, and the greatest money winner in harness turf history, having earned $53,300 one season. Dr. Strong, 2:07½, next to Sweet Marie, is the best race trotter of 1904, and winner of $15,000 in one season. He trotted thirty-two heats, won eleven and was second in fourteen, mostly to Sweet Marie. This is the "gray horse with a game leg" that went nine heats better than 2:08. Wentworth, 2:08, and Kent, 2:09¾, two of the new 2:10 performers of 1904. Sphinx S., 2:04¼, a consistent race pacer. Ida Highwood, record 2:08¼ to wagon. Queen Wilkes, 2:10½. The great Hilger, 2:15¼ at two years, one of the most sensational colt trotters of the decade. There are sixteen horses in all to be sold by Mr. Smathers.

SEWICKLEY OUTWEIGHED.

Allegheny High School Beats Down Its Lighter Opponents and Wins Game.

The Allegheny High school eleven won from the Sewickley High school yesterday at Sewickley, 24 to 0. Sewickley was outweighed, but put up a stubborn resistance. The work of Stearn and Keogh for Allegheny and that of Over, Erwin and Krepley for Sewickley, were features. Lineup.

Allegheny—24.		Sewickley—0.

HOT SPRINGS' NEW TRACK.

Much Money Will Be Spent and Dates Will Be Secured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—D. A. Stuart, who recently became sole owner of the Oaklawn Jockey club race track, now under construction at Hot Springs, Ark., through his purchase of the half interest held by C. B. Dugan, has sold a controlling interest in the property to John Condon, owner of the Harlem race track, Chicago. The plans of the Oaklawn race track, which is more than half built, call for an expenditure of $350,000.

Dates for a winter meeting will be asked of the Western Jockey club at the December session of the stewards. Mr. Condon's first appointment of officials was that of Superintendent W. A. Myer, who is known through his connection in the same capacity with the Harlem Jockey club. It is Mr. Condon's intention to transfer to Oaklawn as large a portion of his staff from Harlem as is possible. To that end he has offered the position of secretary to Mr. Nathanson, who has not yet accepted the offer, and upon whose decision of the selection of other officials will wait.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—The demand for wool continues active with available stocks well reduced. Fine fleece wools are held firm, but in less demand than medium grades. Shipments of wool from Boston since January 1, 1904, to date have been 212,077,847 pounds, against 204,318,976 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts of wool at Boston since January 1, 1904, to date have been 283,362,583 pounds, against 261,842,571 pounds last year.

The Manhattan A. C. and Rambler A. C. will meet in a Manchester league game tonight at Raleigh hall. Manhattan is playing a fast game, and its rooters are betting that it will land the pennant in the league.

SHADYSIDE AND KISKI HAVE ANNUAL GAME TODAY

Shadyside academy and Kiski school meet this afternoon in their annual football game at Saltsburg. All preps. are interested in the outcome of the game, as Kiski, by winning will carry off school honors for this year.

Clever Victory for West End.

The West End's star pool team went to Glenwood last night and defeated that team 160 to 92 in one of the most intersting games ever witnessed in that end of the city. Glenwood led up to about the three last frames, when West End braced up and made a Garrison finish, the score at the time being 77 to 92 in favor of Glenwood. About 500 people attended the game. Score:

West End Star—Aul 40, McDavid 35, Mulhern 31.—Total, 106.

SHRINERS AT THE THEATER.

The Nixon theater last night was an oasis in the desert for the Pittsburgh Nobles of the Mystic Shrine who journeyed over the hot sands to Syria temple. The nobles tarried about three hours at the playhouse and were entertained by Miss Annie Russell and her company in "Brother Jacques." W. S. Brown, potentate, presented Miss Russell with a beautiful bouquet of flowers as a testimonial from his brother nobles and made a humorous little speech. At the close of the third act Miss Russell was called before the curtain and responded to the encore by jokingly wishing that her application for admission to the temple would be favorably acted upon. A dance at the temple followed the theater.

Every seat in the house was filled by the nobles and their friends. Those who occupied boxes were:

Box A—Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mustin.

MICHIGAN ALUMNI BET ON CHICAGO

Two Men Offer to Wager $50,000 on Stagg's Team and West Is Startled.

COACH YOST IS WARNED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—One of the most startling developments that ever came out before an approaching football game, east or west, was sprung suddenly this afternoon in Chicago when two men, declaring that they were alumni of the University of Michigan, appeared at the Saratoga hotel, each with a check for $25,000, which they declared they were eager to wager on the University of Chicago team in its game with Michigan at Ann Arbor tomorrow at odds ranging from 1 to 3 to 1 to 4.

The information struck the football fraternity of the city like a lightning bolt. The men who had been waving hundreds of dollars in the air in vain attempts to place it on Michigan, when they were confronted with this enormous amount of cold cash ready to bet on the chances of Chicago, were dumbfounded. They hesitated, put their money back in their pockets and finally declined to wager at all.

"What does it mean?" they inquired in anxious tones.

The only answer forthcoming was that someone on the inside had either doped the Michigan men so that they could not play their game or that the plungers were the recipients of information which led them to believe beyond the shadow of any doubt that Michigan would be defeated tomorrow.

The influx of $50,000 caused the odds to shift from 4 and 5 to 1 on Michigan to 7 to 5 on Chicago. This is declared to be the most startling shift in odds that ever was known in the history of football.

Information as to the cause was absolutely unobtainable. The two strangers hung about the corridors of the hotel all forenoon displaying their money. The positive manner of the men has frightened Michigan supporters to a startling extent. Dozens of telegrams were hurried to Coach Yost, asking him what had happened.

It is the firm belief that the Wolverines will be tampered with before tomorrow and that the telegrams contained warnings to Ann Arbor coaches.

South Side Passers to Start.

The basketball season will be opened at Odd Fellows hall, South Side, tonight, when the East Liberty team will attempt to take a fall out of the Western Pennsylvania champions. Manager Ernest Seibel of East Liberty reports his team in good condition. The South Siders, while not in the best of condition, have been practicing for several weeks. Nickel, the champions' crack center, is in the finest condition. Campbell and East will make their initial appearance in South Side uniforms.

First Ward Beats Etna.

At Duquesne school hall last night the First ward team beat the Etna A. C. 49 to 12. Lineup:

First Ward—49.		Etna—12.
Snyder	Forward	Gift
McGown	Forward	Gail
Kinney	Center	Englehart
Surdick	Guard	Alperman
Kinney	Guard	Weegie

Goals from field—Snyder 4, McGown 3, Kinney 11, Surdick 5, Gift 3, Gail. Goals from foul—Kinney 3, Gift 4. Referee—Ike Lawrence. Timekeeper—William Conley.

Association Football Games.

Association football will be played at McDonald, Roscoe and East Pittsburgh this afternoon, all being league games. Braddock will play McDonald, East Liverpool will play at East Pittsburgh and the Morgan A. C. will play at Roscoe.

A Tonic for Old People

Adds Years to Life, Puts Life Into Years—Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food, the Great Blood and Flesh Maker, Brain and Nerve Tonic

Keeps you from growing old by keeping up your vital forces. When the human machinery begins to wear out, people grow old and go into decline and decay, the blood becomes thin and watery, the circulation poor, and the nerve forces shattered and weak, showing that certain essential elements of life are being exhausted from the blood and nerves. The exhaustion usually begins with cold and numb hands and feet. The stomach, bowels and bladder lose their power, often becoming partially, if not wholly, paralyzed. You grow weak and feeble and your vital forces so low that you begin to see that your health is being undermined. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food increases the action of the heart and the circulation of the blood, and builds up the system by replacing the same substances to the blood and nerves that have been worn out. Price 50 cents. Weigh yourself before taking it. Book free.

Uncle Sam says it's all right

Uncle Sam, in the person of ten of his government officials, is always in charge of every department of our distillery. During the entire process of distillation, after the whiskey is stored in barrels in our warehouses, during the seven years it remains there, from the very grain we buy to the whiskey you get, Uncle Sam is constantly on the watch. We dare not take a gallon of our own whiskey from our own warehouse unless he says it's all right. And when he does say so, that whiskey goes direct to you, with all its original strength, richness and flavor, carrying a UNITED STATES REGISTERED DISTILLER'S GUARANTEE of PURITY and AGE, and saving the dealers' enormous profits. That's why HAYNER WHISKEY is the best for medicinal purposes. That's why it is preferred for other uses. That's why we have over a quarter of a million satisfied customers. That's why YOU should try it. Your money back if you're not satisfied.

DECISION AGAINST STEEL AND HARVESTER COMPANIES

Interstate Commerce Commission's Opinion on Rebates Received by Terminals at Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The interstate commerce commission in an opinion by Commissioner Prouty today decided that rebates which have been received by terminals, in and about the city of Chicago, controlled by the International Harvester Company and the United States Steel Corporation, popularly known as the Harvester trust and the Steel trust, have been excessive for the services rendered by the terminals in switching cars to and from roads loading to all sections of the country.

On the general question involved in the case, however, the commission has decided: "That it is not unlawful for a railroad operated as a common carrier and owned by the shipper to make joint rates with other carriers and receive divisions of such rates; but on the other hand, that it is unlawful under the interstate commerce law and the Elkins amendment, for any carrier to grant excessive divisions of rates to another carrier owned by the shipper, for the purpose of securing the traffic of that shipper.

"To the extent such divisions of rates exceed a reasonable charge for the service performed it is decided that they operate as a rebate to cut the tariff charge for the benefit of the shipper and constitute undue preference in violation of the statute."

SOLDIER VALUE UNKNOWN.

Gen. Wade Says the Ability of Filipinos Has Not Yet Been Demonstrated.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Gen. J. F. Wade, commander of the Philippines division, in his annual report says cholera has disappeared from the islands. He says that while the troops in the islands have not been actively engaged, their presence there is necessary as an aid to the authorities.

The actual value of the Filipino as a regular soldier, he says, is still an open question. Gen. Wade favors the canteen.

DENMARK TO PARTICIPATE.

Government to Be Represented at Second Hague Peace Conference.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 11.—The Danish government will accept President Roosevelt's invitation to participate in a second peace conference. The government considers that it is particularly desirable that a clearer international agreement be formulated regarding neutrality and contraband regulations.

Negotiations for a treaty of arbitration between the United States and Denmark have been opened. The Danish government, it is declared, is glad of the opportunity to enter into such a treaty.

Police Suspected.

There is a merry jest going the rounds in Chicago police circles, penetrating even to the outlying districts. Inspector Barton, who prides himself on the fine showing of his division, happened into the police station the other morning rather earlier than usual, and as he passed the squad room door on his way to his private office, was startled at hearing the cheery popping of corks. Doubting not that he had caught a number of the "boys" making merry at the expense of the station discipline, he stole cautiously through a side door leading into an ante-room where he could get a good view of the situation without being observed. It was a great shock to the inspector to think that his well disciplined force were running a "blind pig" in the very precincts of the station. Visions of a long list of candidates for the trial board, and possibly his own transfer to the "woods" loomed before him. Unable to longer control himself, he burst suddenly into the squad room. The shock was electrical. About a dozen of the bluecoats had glasses raised to their lips and were imbibing a clear sparkling water! The expression of surprise on the inspector's face told the story, and a hearty laugh went around. The empty Red Raven bottles revealed what his men were doing.

A look of satisfaction was on the genial inspector's face, and he chuckled on his way to his office. "I knew my men were in exceptionally fine physical condition; now I know one of the causes. However, Red Raven Splits have long been under suspicion. Now we have positive evidence."

STOCKS CLOSED BUOYANT AND NEAR TOP PRICES

Iron and Steel Issues the Only Laggards in the Advance—Best Market of the Year on the Pittsburgh Exchange.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was active and buoyant, and in the majority of instances closing prices averaged the highest of the year. There was a progressive increase in the volume of dealings and a progressive movement toward a crystallization of sentiment regarding the future of the market. During the first half of the session the total dealings were smaller than for any corresponding period this week, and there was considerable irregularity. The sales for the day were about 175,000 shares larger than for Thursday, and as stated, the tone at the close was buoyant.

It required some time for the market to get its bearings after the opening, which was fairly firm. The liquidation in the steel stocks continued, and as a rule the initial transactions were at the highest prices of the day. United States Steel was the only laggard in the market and was the only one that failed to participate in the subsequent rally. The common closed unchanged for the day and the preferred closed ⅛ per cent off. Tennessee Coal and Iron ceased to be a leader and after opening at 75, sold off to 72⅝ and closed at 72¾. Colorado Fuel and Iron, on the other hand, opened at 44, advanced to 47¾ and closed at 46¾ bid. Republic Iron and Steel common and preferred were less active and moved within a narrow range. United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry, on the other hand, advanced from 69¾ to 74⅜ for the preferred and closed at 71 bid.

Some diversion was caused at the opening by the sensational jump in Pacific Mail. On Thursday the stock sold as low as 42 and closed at 46¼. It opened yesterday with sales ranging from 51 to 55, and for the remainder of the day fluctuated between 51 and 53, finally closing at 52⅞, a net advance of 6⅝ per cent. The movement was credited to an offer made by Mr. Lawson of 75 for the minority interest, and to a report that that brilliant speculator, who is occupying a prominent position in the public eye, proposed to have a legal bout with the Southern Pacific-Union Pacific interests, which own a controlling interest in Pacific Mail.

There were violent upward movements in a number of other specialties like United States Realty, which advanced 6 points, and Virginia Chemical, which rose 5 points. The movement, however, which finally gave tone to the whole market occurred about the middle of the afternoon and was in the high-priced grangers, finally extending to the entire list. Illinois Central rose from 145 to 150¼, St. Paul from 172¼ to 174⅝ and other leading stocks smaller amounts. The Gould issues were extremely buoyant and reached the highest prices on this movement. Missouri Pacific rose to 109¼ and Missouri, Kansas & Texas, which was bought by London, Texas Pacific and the Wabash issues all advanced. There was good ground for the upward movement in Illinois Central and other roads traversing the corn belt in the government crop report, which indicated a total yield of 2,454,000,000 bushels of corn of a quality far above the average. The strength of these stocks extended to the Pennsylvania group and the hard and soft coal carriers, and the whole market, with the exception of the steels, closed active and buoyant.

Aside from several good reports of railroad earnings for the first week in November and the slightly easier tendency to call loan rates, there was no actual news, although reports of the fall of Port Arthur were favorably received as foreshadowing an early cessation of hostilities in Manchuria, which would have a favorable effect upon foreign markets. The currency movements for the week indicate a loss in cash to the banks of nearly $4,000,000, but there were intimations that other changes that might produce a favorable bank statement today.

In total sales and the number of separate transactions yesterday was the most active market of the year on the Pittsburgh stock exchange. Crucible Steel was still the leader in the advance and the amount of business handled, but the activity and strength of bank stocks was an equally prominent feature. Crucible Steel common advanced to and closed at 19, while the preferred advanced to 48 and closed at 47½. These are the highest prices of the year, and the feeling on both classes of stock is better than at any time since the suspension of dividends on the preferred last year. United States Steel common and preferred were less active than on any previous day this week and the net changes were insignificant. Pittsburgh Coal common reacted to 17⅛, but the preferred held steady around 77. River Coal preferred advanced to 28¼ and closed at a net gain of ¾. National Fire Proofing stocks were more active than for some time past and both common and preferred closed at substantial net gains. The Westinghouse stocks were inactive. Air Brake sold unchanged at 139 and Electric ranged between 86 and 88¾.

Pig iron warrants were in demand and firm. Southern Coke sold at $17 75, an advance of 40 cents a ton.

Bank and trust company stocks were very strong, at advances ranging from 4 per cent on Federal National to 30 per cent on Safe Deposit and Trust.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There were 356 separate transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, representing 15,689 shares stock, 1,200 tons pig iron and $4,000 bonds, making it the largest market of the year. Interest centered largely in Crucible Steel, National Fire Proofing and the bank and trust company stocks. Brokers affirm that the dealings in the latter are solely for investment. The banks and trust companies of Pittsburgh have had a good year. While New York bankers were loaning money for at least six months this year within the range of 1 to 2½ per cent, local bankers did not average lower than 5 per cent, but the most important thing in connection with local institutions is that they have enjoyed an enormous appreciation in the market value of investment securities which they were carrying, and some of them, who were compelled to take over collaterals pledged for loans nine months and a year ago, have been able to dispose of the same at a profit. There is little danger of a revival of the rampant speculation witnessed two years ago, for the reason that brokers will make the required margin prohibitive, and for the additional reason that lenders on bank and trust company stocks will not relax the rule adopted late last year, which put a check upon this kind of trading.

After the close of the market yesterday a seat in the Pittsburgh stock exchange was sold at auction at $8,700, an advance of $2,400 over the last previous sale and an advance of $900 over the best previous bid this year. If the activity in the market continues there is little doubt that the price of seats will advance to the record price of $14,000, which was made in April, 1903.

The dealings on the local board yesterday were better distributed than for months past. No large blocks of stocks changed hands, and the only time at which offerings were liberal was when Crucible common touched 19. Several 500-share lots were offered at that price, and it looked as if the market would have to absorb a considerable amount of stock before any further advance would be possible. So far this year about 60,000 shares of the stock has changed hands on the exchange, at prices ranging from 3⅝ to 19, as compared with three times that amount last year. Comparatively little of the stock was bought to average holdings at a higher price, but whatever the amount, the present advance represents tempting profits.

The kind of market witnessed this week is hard on the Bucketshops. A New York dispatch yesterday stated that one of the largest in New England closed yesterday, and the mortality threatens to spread.

Among the increased railroad earnings reported for the first week in November were the following: St. Louis & Southwestern, $33,000; Missouri, Kansas & Texas, $12,297; Canadian Pacific, $108,000.

The net earnings of Southern Pacific for September increased $112,283.

The Allegheny Heating Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 4 per cent, payable November 25 to stock of record November 15. A recent private sale of the stock is said to have been made at $300.

The Fidelity Title and Trust Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 4 per cent, payable November 14, 1904, to the stockholders of record November 12, 1904.

The directors of the American Railways Company have declared a dividend of 1½ per cent, payable December 15, as registered November 30.

One of the heads of a big western system says: "The result of the election will be felt in railroad traffic circles and reflected in railroad tonnage sheets within 10 days. The waiting to place orders over election is largely sentimental, but it is a very important factor nevertheless. The west has been waiting for a signal and judging from returns, it gave the signal itself. It looks as though the country's order is, "Full steam ahead."

The gross earnings of Northern Pacific for October decreased $189,654.

Sales of Fayette County Gas were reported yesterday at 85.

Directors of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company have declared regular quarterly dividends of 1¾ per cent on common and 1¾ per cent on preferred stock. Both are payable November 21. The unexpected closing of the books caused considerable confusion, as brokers during the morning were unaware that the books closed during the afternoon, and sales were not made on that basis. Stock solicarried the dividend, although the sellers were not aware that the dividends had been declared.

The Manchester Savings Bank and Trust Company of Beaver avenue, Allegheny, has added to its banking institution a real estate department under the management of Adam Hoffmann, and will do a general real estate business.

The National City bank of New York yesterday paid for the $2,000,000 in gold coin taken from the sub-treasury for shipment to Cuba today. It is estimated in banking circles that from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000 more gold will be shipped to Cuba.

There was another advance in copper yesterday and predictions are freely made that 15-cent copper will be reached.

"Under no circumstances 'short' December wheat" was the admonition wired by a prominent Chicago house to its Pittsburgh correspondent after the close of the market yesterday.

Nearly $15,000,000 bonds (par value) were handled on the New York exchange yesterday, and the notable feature was the better demand for high-grade investments. Government bonds were unchanged in price.

One of the noticeable things about the New York market yesterday was that the long strings of sales in blocks of many thousand shares, which have characterized the dealings in stocks picked for each day's leadership, were largely lacking. For this reason the total dealings are below the maximum, but the market had more appearance of animation than on any previous day of this week.

A good impression was produced when Missouri Pacific rallied and finally became strong. This was the first evidence of a response in the market to the government's estimate on the corn crop. Strength spread from Missouri Pacific to all the Southwestern and corn-carriers, including some of the southern group. The crop prospect was evidently the strong underlying force of the whole market. Atchison was late in responding, notwithstanding the confirmation of the large holdings of the stock acquired by the Rockefeller interests.

The U. S. Steel stocks were conspicuously laggard in the reviving market and were not helped by the late report that the committee on steel billet prices had decided to recommend an advance of $2 a ton in the price of that product. The upward flight in some of the independent steel stocks was accompanied by reports of a project maturing for a merger of the southern iron companies.

The money market was called slightly easier, although the currency movement with the interior shows a gain on balance of less than a million and a half as an offset to the loss on sub-treasury operations and gold exports of $5,173,000. Today's $2,000,000 gold export to Cuba does not figure in this showing. Sterling exchange hardened in New York and went lower in Paris and Berlin, lessening by another degree the margin from a resumption of a gold movement from New York to Paris.

The annual election and banquet of the Bankers and Bank Clerks' Mutual Benefit association will be held in the Hotel Schenley, Monday evening, November 21, 1904. The polls will be open from 6 to 7:30. Dinner at 7:30. Notices have been mailed to all banks desiring tickets to mail checks to H. C. Burchinal, treasurer, care of the National Bank of Western Pennsylvania. As the seating capacity of the banquet hall is limited and the sale is large, requests must be mailed at once, for those who have not already secured tickets, to members of the association only $2.00.

UNDERTONE OF STOCK MARKET WAS STRONG

Standard Issues Made Excellent Recoveries Under a Buying Movement.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says:

Under what appeared to be a combination of much manipulation, some public buying and a little short covering, stocks advanced yesterday. The market displayed some irregularity, due to the recurrence of heavy distribution and profit-taking, but selling pressure relaxed in the later trading, and a buying movement, both artificial and general, was sufficient to work excellent recoveries in the standard issues, while many of the specialties fairly boiled at the last. The movement of the day was most unequal in its net results and also in the distribution of business. The undertone of the market was, however, distinctly strong, as some of the traders, who sold short and who worked for reactions, found to their cost.

Little or nothing developed in the way of news which had any direct bearing upon the general speculative position of the market, and practically nothing developed either which affected individual properties. More discussion was heard as to the prospect of peace between Russia and Japan and this may have excited some favorable influence on sentiment. Peace certainly would eliminate the possibilities of any unforseen clash between European powers, such as was threatened between England and Russia as a result of the North sea incident.

Opinions were still widely divided as to the approval of public buying influenced by the election. The question is apparently one of individual opinion, determined, so far as each individual broker is concerned, by his personal experience and, possibly, his individual position in the market. Brokers active on the floor and in a position to judge and form opinions, expressed entirely contrary views, one group holding that there had been practically no increase, and the other that the public was a very important element.

BRADDOCK CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS ACTIVE

The directors of the Braddock chamber of commerce yesterday started arrangements for the second annual banquet to be held next month. The following committee was appointed: George Moore, chairman; Charles B. Cuttridge, Prof. George H. Lamb, Harry J. Learn and John J. Kellar. The chamber decided also to begin agitation for a new station on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. It was decided to place 500 bushels of coal at the disposal of the board of charities of Braddock for the relief of the poor during the coming winter.

SMALL SALES ARE ON THE INCREASE

Two $12,000 Purchases in Nineteenth Ward—Penn Avenue Lot Sold.

SALE OF BEAVER FALLS HOTEL

Sales of moderate-priced properties are increasing steadily, indicating a marked improvement all along the line of real estate dealing. Yesterday the Liberty Real Estate and Trust Company sold for the Thoma estate to a prominent East End physician 6246 Station street, at the corner of Larimer avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $12,000. The lot is 48x100 feet and is improved with a two-story brick building. This will be remodeled for an office, and a store building will be erected on the front of the lot. The property is diagonally across from the new East End Carnegie library.

Another East End deal reported was the purchase by John W. Sherrer of 244 feet, formerly owned by Evan Jones, and located on the south side of Jackson street, near Heberton avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $12,000. Part of the property has a depth of 130 and part 180 feet. It adjoins the Robert Wightman holdings, which are being laid out, and is near the Bosth plan of lots. The buyer will divide the plot into seven lots and build seven reception hall brick houses, to cost $6,000 each. Through the Sachs Real Estate Company W. E. Minor has sold to W. R. Sheup 1646 Penn avenue, Tenth ward, for $12,500. The property, which is near the new produce concession, consists of 23x100 feet, improved with a brick store and house, which rent for $60 a month. The buyer bought for investment.

Hotel Property Brings $20,000.

Through the office of Liggett & Lennox the Imperial hotel at Beaver Falls has been sold for John H. Armstrong to William C. Lyne for $20,000. The building is a three-story brick structure on lot 98x100 and is located at Fifth and Ninth avenues, directly across from the Ft. Wayne passenger station. It contains 55 rooms, and will be held for an investment.

The Aronson-Friedman Company sold for A. P. Burchfield to a downtown business man four brick houses on 25x137 feet in Beech street, near Ash street, Allegheny, for $10,000. The property rents for $1,200 a year.

The Real Estate Trust Company sold for Ernest W. Beach to A. J. Sunshine 80x150 feet on the north side of Bartlett street, near Wightman street, Twenty-second ward, for $10,000 cash. The buyer will build a $25,000 house at once.

Joseph Powell has sold for W. F. Metzger 50x88 feet on the east side of Stratton lane, near Walnut street, Twentieth ward, for $16,000. The lot is improved with a 10-room house. Coyle Bros. have disposed of another lot in the Beacon Heights plan in the Twenty-second ward, making 400 feet of frontage in one street in that plan sold in the last 30 days. The lot sold is 100x150 feet, fronting in Beacon boulevard, and was bought from J. A. Denham by a prominent builder, who will build a house on the site.

Fair Showing in October.

Building operations in Pittsburgh during the month of October totaled $1,434,081, as compared with a total of $5,077,516 for the month of September. The decrease in the estimated cost of the projects was due chiefly to the fact that the permit for the Carnegie institute addition was taken out in September. More permits were granted in October, the total number being 335, as compared with 211 in September, showing that the activity was no less. Of the buildings authorized in October 81 were frame, 65 brick, one ironclad, one steel and granite, four brick and frame and two cement block structures. Permits were also granted for 35 additions and 76 alteration and repair jobs.

Building operations in October in 24 leading cities of the country, as reported in the Construction News of Chicago, show a total of 8,206 buildings authorized, which will cost $27,775,010. For October, 1903, had a total of 6,862 buildings, estimated to cost $21,225,772. The gain of 30 per cent is remarkable, coming so late in the season, and shows the strong undercurrent of confidence in increasing business of all kinds. Cincinnati led the list of cities with a gain of 227 per cent. Other cities in the order of their gains were as follows: New Orleans, 169 per cent; Buffalo, 93 per cent; Cleveland, 82 per cent; Indianapolis and Memphis, each 87 per cent; San Francisco, 84 per cent; Pittsburgh, 76 per cent; New York, 30 per cent; Minneapolis, 20 per cent; Chicago, 22 per cent; Philadelphia, 16 per cent; St. Louis, 14 per cent; Milwaukee, 13 per cent; Los Angeles, 9 per cent; Allegheny, 6 per cent, and Omaha, 2 per cent. Five cities showed losses—Tacoma, 31 per cent; Louisville, 16 per cent; St. Paul, 7 per cent; Seattle, 4 per cent, and Atlanta, 2 per cent.

Objects to Regular Viewers.

F. E. McGillick, part of whose property at Homewood station was lately condemned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for a new station site, has decided to waive the appointment of a board of viewers and let the case go direct to the court. The lot condemned measures 40x210 feet. The railroad company filed a bond of $40,000, but Mr. McGillick wants $62,000 damages for his property and the injury to his business.

It develops that the W. L. Sloan residence at Jackson street and Sheridan avenue, Nineteenth ward, has not been sold as was reported yesterday. Mr. Sloan says that no deal has been closed for the property, and that the price quoted, $42,500, is much too low a valuation.

The sale of the Carlisle holdings at 820 Liberty avenue for $85,000, noted in yesterday's Gazette, has started a train of conjectures as to the relative valuation of properties in Liberty avenue now and after the Pennsylvania railroad tracks are removed to Duquesne way. This sale, with that of the McKee holdings near Fifth avenue, which was made one month ago, shows that investors are looking to this street for properties that promise a big increase in valuation both for speculative and business purposes. Rumors of offers of $6,000 and $8,000 a front foot for properties above Sixth street have been frequent this week, but few of them could be confirmed. The scarcity of sales in this locality for a year and the uncertainty in the minds of the public as to what is to be derived from the removal of the tracks makes property owners at sea as to what to ask for their holdings, and at least one owner has refused an option on his lot this week for that reason.

Small Properties Change Owners.

East End: The Liberty Real Estate Trust Company sold for H. W. Ingersoll to Charles Bricker 835 Collins avenue, near Bond street, Nineteenth ward, a frame house on 26x100 feet, for $5,400; for George B. Johnson, executor of the French estate, to Samuel A. Hall 4737 Maripoe avenue, Twentieth ward, a frame house on 50x120 feet, for $7,000. The same company has sold in its Twenty-first ward plan of lots facing in Gladefield and Vassar streets the following lots: No. 154 to M. Durkin for $500, No. 155 to W. Roach for $500, No. 152 to Messrs. Albert and Boleschacher for $500, No. 153 to J. Hartley for $500, No. 150 to S. Heasley for $500, Nos. 148 and 149 to P. J. Purcell for $1,000, No. 174 to Martin Carey for $525. This makes 59 of the 124 lots in the plan which are sold.

Gray, Hallock and Virginia avenues, Thirty-fifth ward, one two-story frame dwelling with attic to be erected on premises, cost $4,800; Wise & Minor, 1527 Park building, one two-story frame dwelling, to be erected in Mt. Clair street, Twenty-third ward, cost $1,000.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Money was much wanted in the market today for stock exchange payday and the repayment of borrowings from the Bank of England. Rates were easier. Foreign exchanges interfered with the downward tendency of discounts. Trading on the stock exchange opened irregular, but prices became somewhat firmer and business moderately active, the peace talk being a favorable factor. Consols hardened. Home rails gained fractions. Americans opened irregular on New York's profit-taking, improved later in spots, reacted slightly during the afternoon and closed steady. Japanese were quietly firm. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 95. Russians were easier. Consols for money, 85⅞; consols for account, 85⅝. Bar silver quiet at 2s 13-16d per ounce. Money is nominally quoted at 2@2½ per cent. The quotation in the open market for three-months' bills is 2 15-16@3 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three-months' bills is 2⅝@3 per cent.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Prices on the bourse today were firm, internationals advancing and French rentes going off on reports of Finance Minister Rouvier's ill health. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 94.40 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 516. The private rate of discount was 2 9-16 per cent. Three per cent rentes, 98 francs 17½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 12½ centimes for checks.

SUGAR MOVES UP AGAIN ANOTHER TEN POINTS

Coffee Is Also Growing Uneasy and Butter and Eggs Promise an Advance.

Sugar took another rise yesterday, and the indications are that it will go higher next week. Every grade of sugar was marked up 10 points yesterday in pursuance to instructions from the refiners. The price is advancing rapidly, this making a gain of 30 points in less than three weeks. Scarcity of raw sugar is said to be the primary cause and heavy demand from confectioners is the contributing or secondary reason.

In the wholesale grocery trade there is an uneasy feeling in coffee. The market is very strong and December coffee rose 10 points in the eastern market Thursday. As yet no advance has taken place here, although this is the second lift the eastern market has suffered. There is every probability that a sharp advance will come soon, as the berries seem to be scarce, and only one to two of the largest dealers were able to stock up. The Arbuckles, who practically make the coffee market, at least in this section, have been holding the price down, it is said, by having been fortunate enough to secure an immense stock before the shortage was generally known.

Butter is expected to move up at least another cent next Monday. The great scarcity of milk still continues. One leading Elgin butter maker said yesterday that not 25 per cent of the winter cows are giving milk and the other 75 per cent cannot be counted upon to furnish any supply for a month yet. By that time the price of feed will probably be at such an altitude that there is little prospect of any break in prices.

Strictly fresh eggs are expected to take another advance Monday. They are now quoted at 27 cents, but many dealers are refusing orders at that price, except from regular customers. The supply seems to be growing shorter and the Pittsburgh market is exceedingly short on eggs.

Apples are beginning to crowd the market. There were 115 carloads in the market yesterday. They are mostly winter sapes by all of excellent quality. Receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were as follows: Apples, 6 cars, making 10 barrels; 9 making 35; cabbage, 5, making 81; grapes, 2, making 24; onions, 1, making 16; oranges 1, making 5; pears, 2, making 16; potatoes, 14, making 110; miscellaneous, 2, making 10.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Hay and grain receipts in the local yards yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania lines, 23 cars hay, 12 cars oats, 4 cars corn, 1 car oats and corn, 4 cars feed, 6 cars straw, 3 cars rye; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 5 cars hay, 1 car oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 4 cars corn, 1 car oats and corn.

Oats moved up a fraction yesterday and the market has stiffened up greatly. There was a heavy demand for the several grades and a good day's business was done. New yellow ear corn also moved up and the supply of the new crop, which is now coming in, is tending to greatly relieve the scarcity situation. The hay market is steady and the demand for best grade continues as heavy as ever, with the supply somewhat improved. Rye is holding its own and no changes have been announced since the last quotation, which has ruled for about a week.

DEMAND IS BROADENING IN WHOLESALE MANNER

Increased Consumption of Pig Iron Significant Feature in Industrial Situation.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

All measures of trade indicated the customary loss due to holiday interruption, but subsequently much of the deficit was regained, numerous evidences of increasing confidence being seen in the disposition to place orders for distant shipment. Increased consumption of pig iron is also significant and in other leading branches of manufacture there is steadily diminishing percentage of idle machinery. Woolen mills are busy, despite the fact that it is between seasons, and the raw wool market is very strong. Foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a decrease of $562,965 in exports, compared with last year's figures, while imports increased $4,364,891. Receipts of coffee were a prominent factor in this week's Railway earnings in October exceeded last year's by 3.8 per cent. Developments in the leading manufacturing industry are about equal to the most sanguine expectations. Demand is broadening in a wholesome manner. Large contracts calling for a heavy tonnage of plates, wire, pipe and sheets. Orders for structural shapes were heavier than at any previous time this year, and sales of bars were made at $2 09 above the list prices.

Footwear manufacturers report a satisfactory volume of supplementary orders from eastern jobbers for delivery early next year. Quotations are fully maintained, and in some instances small advances have occurred. An upward tendency is still noted in leather. Union and oak backs being quotably higher, and other tannages firmer in tone. Export sales are still a feature, especially on Japanese account. Hides are on a firmer basis, with stocks limited and offerings small. Foreign dry hides have sold at a further fractional advance.

Little net change is recorded in the leading textile industries. Buyers of cotton goods still operate cautiously, although sellers are more determined to secure full prices. They claim that there is no prospect of cheaper raw material and present costs of production warrant the quotations demanded.

Failures this week numbered 213 in the United States, against 207 last year, and 17 in Canada, compared with 27 a year ago.

Bradstreets tomorrow will say:

Wheat, including flour exports for the week ending November 10, aggregate 1,454,276 bushels, against 1,482,202 bushels last year, 3,659,823 bushels this week last year, 4,440,160 bushels in 1902 and 4,383,734 bushels in 1901. From July 1 to date the exports aggregate 25,388,439 bushels, against 61,901,751 bushels last year, 99,980,652 bushels in 1902 and 112,057,224 bushels in 1901. Corn exports for the week aggregate 148,951 bushels, against 946,927 bushels last week, 1,688,282 bushels a year ago, 251,901 bushels in 1902 and 629,924 bushels in 1901. From July 1 to date the exports of corn aggregate 16,789,886 bushels, against 21,560,978 bushels in 1903, 2,144,668 bushels in 1902 and 16,583,550 bushels in 1901.

SPECIAL BAIL IN ARSON CHARGE

Turtle Creek Officials in Trouble Over Burning of Borough Lockup.

MAN'S SANITY IS QUESTIONED

Special bail of $3,000 was fixed in criminal court yesterday in the cases of Policeman Thomas Rhodes, A. J. Johnston, delinquent tax collector, and Earl Boone, all of Turtle Creek, who are charged with arson in burning the borough lockup.

Johnston is alleged to have furnished the matches with which to start the fire, Boone is alleged to have lighted it and Rhodes is said to have helped arranage the wood to start the fire.

The blaze was extinguished by the borough fire department. It is charged Rhodes told several persons if they remained they would see a good fire. Later the blaze broke out again.

The trouble is said to have been the result of a deadlock in the borough councils, half wanting a new jail and the rest being against the proposition.

The officials in the district attorney's office are said to have had confessions from two other men who are charged with arson and whose names are —— Campbell and Frank ——. The confessions are said to incriminate all those connected with the trouble.

Anthony Dallas was found guilty of a charge of felonious assault, made by Inspector of Police W. J. Boyle, in behalf of Angelo Larello, who was shot in the leg on October 10. It was suggested to the court that Dallas' sanity be inquired into and the prisoner was remanded to jail. During the trial of the case Dallas gave some answers to questions that made the jury think he was mentally unbalanced.

Carnegie's chief of police and clerk of councils were notified yesterday by District Attorney Robert E. Stewart that prize fights under the guise of boxing contests and smokers must not be permitted. The letter notified them that an event similar to the one taking place there a short time ago, which was scheduled to take place within 10 days, must not take place.

Raymond & Whitcomb, excursion promoters of Boston, filed a bill in equity against T. Chalmers Johnston, a former local agent, asking that the court compel him to make some statement of transactions while acting as their agent. They claim that he only made a partial accounting of a Cuban tour of last February, and that he still owes them a large sum of money.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Harry Levitt and Oscar Green, trading as Levitt & Green, grocers and meat dealers of Esplen. The firm's liabilities are given as $3,270 50, with assets of $2,291 66. In the individual petitions filed Levitt has no liabilities and $165 assets and Green has no debts and assets of $25.

A. W. Bedell of West Elizabeth, in his will, disposed of an estate valued at $45,000. To his widow he leaves the property on which they lived and directs that she be paid $3,000. The balance of the estate is divided among his five daughters and the children of a deceased daughter.

Franklin Poff of Hampton township leaves a $20,500 estate to his children after providing for an income for his widow.

Joe Eskin, in juvenile court, was adjudged guilty of a charge of burglary and was sent to Morganza. The charge was made by Harry G. Patterson, who alleged the boy broke into his store with a companion on October 29 and stole $10 in money and some revolvers. Patterson conducts a hardware store in Eighth avenue, Munhall.

The trial list for criminal court next week is headed by Earl McIntyre, who will be placed on trial Monday on a charge of murder. McIntyre is held for the death of Charles Barrett, who was drowned in the Monongahela river on June 24. He and the defendant were employed on a steamboat and are said to have quarreled, the result of which was Barrett falling into the river. Before help could reach him he was drowned.

Executions filed: Andy Pauyrto vs. J. W. Ondik, $149 15; Blaisdell Machinery Company vs. W. A. Lindsay Company, $150 85.

Carrie C. Glantz was granted an absolute divorce from Charles F. Glantz for alleged indignities to the person.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A member of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. says: "We are face to face with a world-wide revival in business with a steadily increasing demand for copper. It looks now as though copper would go to 15 cents in the near future, although the large producers would not look with favor on such an advance. The consumption of copper increases about 10 per cent annually. Production over the past decade has also seen about a 10 per cent advance every year except the last two. It is over two years now since a big producer came into the field. The Greene Consolidated came into bearer's hands and the Calumet & Arizona a year later. Should copper go to 15c, consumption would decrease rapidly and production increase. The present high prices will probably continue until something like an equilibrium in supply is again established."

Directors of the Bunker Hill Mining and Smelting Company have elected officers as follows: Charles G. Reiter, president; H. Waller Brinckerhoff, vice president; J. D. Campbell, secretary and cashier; Alexander G. Brinckerhoff, treasurer.

It is said to be practically certain that directors of Greene Consolidated, at the dividend meeting about December 1, will declare a bi-monthly dividend of 4 per cent or 40 cents a share, an increase of 1 per cent. This will put the stock on a basis of $2.40 a year or nearly 10 per cent on present selling price.

The directors of the New York and Honduras Rosario Mining Company have declared the regular 1 per cent monthly dividend, payable November 10.

The annual report of the Smuggler Union Mining Company (New England Exploration Company) for the year ended April 30, 1904, has been issued. The company reports total income of $570,950, operating expenses, exclusive of disbursements on account of Boston and Denver offices, $417,860, leaving a deficit of $66,909. Ore reserves on April 30, 1904, are estimated as follows: Positive ore blocked out, 225,300 tons; probable ore partly blocked out, 325,500 tons; possible ore, 1,400,000 tons. From the ore produced during the year there were recovered 11,218 ounces of gold and 370,900 ounces of silver. Total receipts per ton of ore were $5 78, as against $5 55 the preceding year, due largely to the improved price of silver. The unsatisfactory showing for the year was due to the labor troubles in Colorado.

Directors Approve Plan for Merging Vandalia Properties

The plan for reorganizing the Vandalia system, now controlled by the Pennsylvania Company, has been received and met the approval of the directors. It calls for a general merger of the lines embraced in that system into a company, to be known as the Vandalia Railroad Company. The companies embraced in the consolidation and parties to the agreement are the Terre Haute & Indianapolis, St. Louis, Vandalia & Terre Haute, Terre Haute & Logansport, Logansport & Toledo, and Indianapolis & Vincennes. The authorized capital of the new Vandalia is $25,000,000, consisting of 250,000 shares of par value of $100 each. The proposed consolidation is based upon the present financial condition of the properties and the capital stock of the new company is to be issued in exchange for the outstanding capital of the constituent companies on the following basis: Five shares of new stock, par value $100, for four shares of Terre Haute & Indianapolis, par value $50, $4,976,375; one and four-tenths shares new stock for one share of St. Louis, Vandalia & Terre Haute, preferred, $2,162,580, and two shares of new stock for one of common, $4,758,716; seven-tenths of a share of new stock for one share of Terre Haute & Logansport, $1,400,000; to the holders of the present indebtedness of the Logansport & Toledo ($1,650,000), $500,000 of new stock; in exchange for $4,000 of second stock of the Logansport & Toledo, $160 new stock.

Of the present $3,000,000 mortgage indebtedness of the Indianapolis & Vincennes, $1,400,000 is to be delivered up in consideration of $800,000 of new stock and all of the stock of that company, $1,402,000, shall be given up for one share of new stock, $100. The principal offices of the consolidated company will be in Terre Haute, and the general office in Pittsburgh. The directors will be John G. Williams and V. T. Malott, Indianapolis; W. R. Donaldson, St. Louis; Charles H. Seybet, Highland, Ill.; Edward B. Taylor, J. J. Brooks, James McCrea, Joseph Wood and J. J. Turner, Pittsburgh; Samuel Rea and John P. Green, Philadelphia. These will be continued in office until the first annual election of the company on the first Tuesday in April, 1905. The consolidation and reorganization is expected to become effective January 1.

Shippers After Railroads.

The complaints of the Chicago Coal Shippers association against the Chicago Car Service association has been put before the attorney general with a recommendation that a bill be filed attacking the charter of the Car Service association. The question will affect all similar organizations in the country, and is considered one of importance to all railroads in the United States. There is a total of 26 car service associations in the country, which, within a few years, have succeeded in increasing freight car mileage by over 25 per cent, through the enforcement of rules requiring the prompt unloading by shippers. The result has been millions saved to the railroads annually and it is said that a return to the old condition of the car service would not only cost the railroads severe loss, but would also practically paralyze the transportation industry.

Costs to Remove Crops.

According to figures made by one of the big eastern railroads, a gross revenue of $463,644,051 will go to the railroads for moving the principal crops of the country grown in 1904. The object of the compilation was to inform the railway magnates regarding the probable income of 1905 and the amount of equipment and power that will be necessary. In arriving at the estimate consideration has been given to the fact that much of the property will be transported by the railroads several times in different forms.

The total crop valuation is estimated at $5,335,000,000, and if all of it is moved it is shown that the crop would fill 18,220,408 freight cars, which are now of an average capacity of 30 tons. It is also shown that the transportation tax on the whole amounts to about 8 per cent of the valuation.

To transport the entire crop of 2,400,000,000 bushels of corn along there would be required a total of 2,400,000 cars, while the estimated production of 42,500,000 tons of hay would require 5,681,818 cars, if it was all moved at one time. To transport all of the estimated 30,000,000 head of cattle would require 2,400,000 cars, while the estimated wheat production of 550,000,000 bushels could be carried in 611,100 cars.

To Prevent a Congestion.

The Pennsylvania system and the Baltimore & Ohio officials are making a thorough investigation regarding the facilities for taking care of the tonnage in this district. The fall shipments are always much larger than at any other time in the year, and the officials are making all preparations to prevent a congestion or a car shortage. Coal cars are still short, but as the lakes are about closed this will give more cars for other kinds of service. Third Vice President J. J. Turner, General Manager G. L. Peck, and General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer of the Pennsylvania lines, left yesterday for Chicago to study the situation on the entire system. G. L. Potter of the Baltimore & Ohio, accompanied by General Manager W. W. Atterbury, went over the Monongahela division yesterday.

Railroad Notes.

J. W. Patterson, Jr., superintendent of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal, left yesterday for New York.

E. L. Austin of the legal department of the Wabash at St. Louis, was in the city yesterday on business.

Henry Waltermire, ticket agent at the Milwaukee Union station, is in Pittsburgh on business. Besides his railroad position he is interested in several industries. While here he will place several orders for material for plants.

Since it was announced that President Theodore Roosevelt would attend the world's fair the local railroads have received many inquiries for bookings. Indications are that travel out of this territory to the fair on the days when the president will be a guest, is expected to be exceptionally heavy.

W. D. Holliday, traffic manager of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal, left yesterday for Lewisburg with a football suit under his arm. He was invited by a special committee of the Bucknell university team to coach the players at today's game. Mr. Holliday is a graduate of Bucknell and during school days was a member of the football team, winning laurels as an athlete.

President Murray of the Baltimore & Ohio has decided the time has come to improve the stations along the system. An order has been issued for the building of 33 stations at different points along the line, where box cars and old buildings are now being used. A great deal of work will be done during the winter. Some larger station propositions, ranging from $50,000 to $100,000, are under contemplation for spring work.

Search for New Pools Not at All Encouraging

The advance in the market would certainly stimulate operations if there was any new producing territory in sight. The search for new pools has not been a success and there seems to be nothing left but a full development of the old fields. The efforts to open a new pool in the vicinity of West Union, Doddridge county, W. Va., are not encouraging. Nearly all of the late wells have come in gassers. The Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the A. J. Davidson farm through the Gordon and has added another to the list of gassers in that district. In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled in No. 3 on the W. L. Gallagher farm from the Gordon to the fourth sand and the hole has filled up 1,000 feet with fluid. It is still drilling and when through the sand will be tested at that level. On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn has completed its No. 5 on the R. J. Postalwait farm and has a 20-barrel producer in the Gordon.

Northeast of the fifth sand development, near Fairview, Marion county, Treat & Crawford have drilled their No. 2 on the Isaac Ammons farm deep into the fifth sand and have no show for a producer. In Calhoun county, in the Yellow creek district, Murphy Bros. & Co. have completed and shot their No. 4 on the Robert Smith farm and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Berea grit.

South of Burgettstown, Washington county, M. Finnegan & Co. have drilled their No. 3 on the W. W. Stevenson farm through the sand and have a show for a 10-barrel pumper.

Word was received yesterday that a local company has drilled in a well on the James Ray farm, in Farmington township, Clarion county, that is good for 50 barrels a day. If this well is as good as reported, it is a remarkable producer for old territory.

In the shallow sand district, on Wolf creek, Morgan county, O., the Hastinga Oil Company and the South Petroleum Company have completed their No. 21 on the G. E. Morris farm and have a 15-barrel producer. In the same district, Haler & Co. have completed their No. 18 on the Pugh heirs' farm and have a 10-barrel pumper. In the same district the Pure Oil Producing Company's No. 11 on the L. M. Thornberry farm, previously reported dry, has been drilled deeper and is good for 15 barrels a day in the first Cow run sand.

In the Macksburg district, Washington county, the Consolidated Oil and Mining Company has completed its No. 3 on the A. G. Parks farm and has a five-barrel pumper in the Germantown sand.

WORK GOING FORWARD.

Improvement of Pittsburgh Harbor Fast Moving Toward Completion.

Brig. Gen. MacKenzie, chief of engineers, has issued his report of the work done for the betterment of the Pittsburgh harbor and the Ohio river during the current year.

The report shows that the great channel which is to be dredged from Davis Island dam to a point above the Panhandle bridge over the Monongahela river has been completed to a width of 300 feet. The plans call for a channel of a width of 600 feet and a depth of 10 feet at the dam and about seven feet at the head. The work has been under way for a couple of years and the other 200 feet of width will be dredged out as rapidly as the money available for the work makes it possible.

On the dams on the Ohio the sum of $2,749,702 55 has been expended, the greatest sum on any one dam being that of Merrill, on which has been expended $1,011,502 55. This dam has been completed and is now in operation. The other dams will be completed within two years, and the coal harbor will then be removed to the Merrill pool at Rochester, thus giving coal men that much of an advantage for every rise which comes. This will get their boats below the dangerous turns at Marriman and make river navigation much safer than in former years.

The report concerning the several improvements on the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers is very extensive and gives in detail the cost of building and maintenance for the past year.

The Pittsburgh & Morgantown packet line is now carrying Adams Express Company matter to all points along the river. The Adams company has heretofore been unable to take express goods for points above Brownsville. They are now received for all points between Pittsburgh and the head of navigation.

ALL MURDERED EXCEPT A SON

Assassin of California Family Set House Afire to Conceal His Crime.

FOUR BODIES RECOVERED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

AUBURN, CAL., Nov. 11.—It is now known Julius Weber, his wife, their 19-ear-old daughter, Bertha, and their son, Paul, aged 14 years, were murdered last night by an unknown assassin, who set fire to the home in an effort to cover his crime. Before the fire had made any great headway, the bodies of the murdered woman and her two children were rescued. Mrs. Weber and her boy were still alive, but died almost as soon as they reached the air.

An examination of the bodies showed Mrs. Weber and the children had been shot before the fire had been started. All efforts to reach Julius Weber, the father, who was not thought to be in the house, were abandoned until today when his body was found in the bath room of the dwelling. He, too, had been shot down.

The body of Weber was so badly burned it has been impossible to ascertain how often he was shot. It is evident beyond doubt the women were shot in one room, their clothing set on fire, and were then dragged into the apartment where their bodies were discovered. A peculiar circumstance is that while the bodies of the mother and daughter were burned to some extent, the apartment in which they were lying was not on fire when the firemen broke in, which showed they had been killed in some other portion of the house, partially burned, and then dragged into the room where they were found.

Adolph Weber, a son, aged 20, the only member of the family alive, says he thinks the motive was neither robbery nor revenge. He had a theory, he said, but would not give it. He did say, reluctantly, his father had a violent temper.

PLAN A "FIREPROOF" CITY.

Novel Scheme Suggested to Commissioner Oakley—Water Showers for Skyscrapers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—A novel scheme to make New York a fireproof city has been suggested to Commissioner John T. Oakley of the water supply department, by committees representing the Merchants' association and the Retail Drygoods association.

The plan is to equip the windows on all buildings with a water shower, which is to be connected with pipes leading from the street. In case any building is threatened by fire which starts in an adjoining building these showers can be turned on by firemen and thus make safe the endangered property. Commissioner Oakley said he would do all in his power to see that the plan was carried out.

Dr. Smith Taken to Ohio.

Dr. Lamont Smith, who was arrested at his mother's home, 911 North avenue west, Allegheny, on Thursday by Deputy Sheriff D. F. Voorhees of Jefferson county, O., and Mayor C. E. Miller of Toronto, O., on a charge of performing a criminal operation, and who was sent to jail awaiting requisition papers, yesterday afternoon, on the advice of his attorney, consented to go back to Ohio without a requisition. The Ohio officers left for Steubenville, O., with their prisoner.

Nine Nations

Now Use Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Millions of people, of nine different nations, are constant users of Liquozone. Some are using it to get well; some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. No medicine was ever so widely employed. These users are everywhere; your neighbors and friends are among them. And half the people you meet—wherever you are—know someone whom Liquozone has cured.

If you need help, please ask some of these users what Liquozone does. Don't blindly take medicine for what medicine cannot do. Drugs never kill germs. For your own sake, ask about Liquozone; then let us buy you a full-size bottle to try.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of difficult cases, that Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Read the Conditions Carefully.

The conditions governing this contest follow. No answer which does not exactly conform to them will be considered.

All answers must be upon GAZETTE blanks, which will be printed with each Proverb Picture. Only one answer will be allowed on each blank.

ANSWERS MUST NOT BE SENT IN UNTIL THE CLOSE OF THE CONTEST. But all answers must be in The Gazette office within six days after the last Proverb Picture is printed.

The blank forms will be numbered and answers must be neatly arranged in numerical order by the contestants. At the close of the contest answers should be sent by mail, post paid, addressed to Manager Proverb Contest, THE GAZETTE, PITTSBURGH, PA., or they may be left in sealed envelopes at our Business Office, Wood Street and Oliver Avenue, addressed as above.

Do not send the pictures. SEND ONLY THE ANSWER BLANK. The blanks may be filled out in any legible way.

Contestants may send in as many sets of answers as they please, but each set must be in a different envelope. Each set will be treated separately. BUT NO CONTESTANT WILL BE AWARDED MORE THAN ONE PRIZE. Contestants may send in duplicate answers to the same Proverb Problem, but they must be on separate blanks; that is, they may fill out two or more No. 1s or 2s, etc. These duplicates must be kept together in making up the sets of answers.

Contestants may secure assistance from any source. Everybody is eligible except employes of The Pittsburgh Gazette.

The manager of the Proverb Contest distinctly reserves the right to make any change in or addition to these conditions that he may deem necessary for properly conducting the contest.

The thirty proverbs which will comprise the series have been selected from standard authorities, and the list on which the prizes will be awarded has been sealed and placed in the care of Mr. H. C. McKildowney, President of The Union Trust Co., and will not be opened until the time arrives for awarding the prizes.

The proverbs selected for this contest are those in common use and will not be hard to solve, but be careful to get the correct wording and punctuation, and see that each word is spelled correctly. You will find this contest an education for old and young. Enter it at once.
